Polio Virus Fights Back—

Sometimes it seems to the men and women who fight disease in the research laboratories that the germs or viruses seem to fight back with a sort of desperation when they are on the run by virtue of medical advances.

It is so with polio. There has been more polio in America in the past eight years than in the 30 preceding years. In 1955, the year the Salk vaccine came with its great promise and hope, the year's total was the sixth highest in the 40 years of polio incidence. The year 1955 was the eighth consecutive year of heavy incidence.

Polio among adults has been steadily rising over the past several years. In 1944 only 12 per cent of the cases were among adults. By 1955 that percentage had more than doubled. About 25 per cent of all polio cases now appears in grown-ups. In the past two years patients in their 50's and 60's have come along to confound the statistics. The disease still strikes most frequently among children five to nine years old. But, the step-up in adult infection is puzzling.

Treatment of polio is long, expensive and, in many cases, a permanent need and expense. When the mother or the income-producing father is stricken the impact on the family and the Foundation's services is the greater.

Apathy

It is almost as if the virus of infantile paralysis had some malignant intelligence and is fighting back in a sort of desperation as the Salk vaccine demonstrates its effectiveness.

Certain it is, and sad it is, that for thousands the Salk vaccine will still be too late in 1956. This is one of those unfortunate statistics which may be predicted with agonizing accuracy.

Not only is polio yet undefeated, it is possible for the year 1956 to be another bad one with several states undergoing epidemic stages as did Massachusetts, Wisconsin, New Hampshire and Rhode Island in 1955.

One of the more frightening aspects of the present situation, one which has public health and Polio Foundation staff members gravely disturbed, is what seems to be public apathy.

There is plenty of vaccine for the priority age groups. Various limits have been set up by the states. The U. S. Public Health Service established its priority as one to 14 years.

For some unaccountable reason parents have not been bringing in their children for the shots. The Public Health Service and other agencies are greatly afraid that as spring comes on and the polio cases begin to be reported, there will be a great rush made on the clinics administering the vaccine. If there should be an early threat of epidemic the crash might take on near-panic proportions.

Effectiveness

There is good reason to believe the Salk vaccine prevents paralysis in the few who become infected after the shots. It is known the incidence of polio was much lower in the groups which last year had two Salk injections.

The vaccine is estimated to be "good" for a period of about six months after manufacture. It will be a very real tragedy of apathy if thousands of amputees of the vaccine are wasted by nonuse. There were enough controls last year to know that even one injection helps. Two do a much superior job of setting up the necessary antibodies. The third shot, which is a booster, given within six months after the second, creates even more of these antibodies and therefore more protection.

How long the protection lasts is, of course, not known. When the thousands who last year took the shots have been protected for the span of a year, tests will be made to see how much "protection" remains. We may find the three shots are good for a year or more or the life span.

But, what we do know is that the vaccine is available... spring and the summer polio seasons are approaching. And polio is not licked yet. Several more years of March of Dimes drives will be necessary before the resisting virus is defeated.

Reds Insist U.S. Blocks Ban of Force

Peiping Faking, Johnson Replies

By MICHAEL GOLDSMITH
Geneva, Switzerland, Jan. 18 (AP)—A Red China envoy charged today that possible agreement with the United States to renounce use of force had been blocked by U. S. insistence on defending Formosa. U. S. Ambassador U. Alexis Johnson declared a 2,500-word statement by Special Ambassador Wang Ping-nan reflected "to some extent" the progress made here in 24 weeks of secret negotiations. But Johnson stated that by omissions and misinterpretation Wang "distorts and perverts the facts."

Wang's statement broke the official secrecy on the negotiations and summarized the Chinese version of the exchanges with Johnson.

Johnson said he was disappointed that the Chinese Communists "have again chosen to resort to propaganda regarding the talks between Ambassador Wang and myself."

"At the beginning of our talks we agreed that progress would best be achieved by promptly announcing our agreements and refraining from publicly airing our disagreements," Johnson said.

REFLECTS PROGRESS

Johnson said Wang's statement "to some extent reflects the progress that is has thus far been possible to make in seeking a commitment by the Chinese Communists to renounce the use of force to achieve objectives." He said: "However, by partial quotation and misinterpretation the statement distorts and perverts facts with regard to our discussions concerning the exact wording of such a commitment."

"The statement also attempts to gloss over the stark failure of the Chinese Communists to fully carry out their commitment of Dec. 10 expeditiously to release all Americans on the mainland of China desiring to return."

It was Wang's view that U. S. insistence upon including Formosa in its area of self-defense had blocked agreement.

Ford Shares, Scarce Here, Are Rationed

Ford Motor Co. stock placed on sale for the first time Wednesday was oversubscribed in Atlanta, investment companies reported.

"We had to break it down in 5 and 10-share lots to try to make it go around," one broker said. "There was a good demand from every source."

Another investment firm representative declared, "We were several times oversubscribed. Everyone wanted some Ford stock."

One company reported "much more orderly buying than we expected. There was a big demand at first but it has quieted off now."

Nationally, the stock sold at a premium Wednesday, but had backed away from its highest levels by afternoon.

The stock was quoted in early dealings at $70 bid, $70.25 asked, but by later quotations receded to around $68 bid, $68.25 asked.

3 Tell of 4-Hour Flaming Ordeal; 25 Tanker Blast Victims Hunted

LAKE CHARLES, La., Jan. 18 (AP)—Two bodies and pieces of other bodies floated ashore today as the grim search continued for the seamen—perhaps as many as 25—who worked aboard the tanker Salem Maritime when it exploded.

The death toll could even grow.

The name of James E. Cole of Cartersville, an oiler, was on a list of crewmen released in New York by Cities Service. The firm emphasized it was not known who was ashore or aboard when the tanker Salem Maritime blew up.

Higher than 25, for as the monstrous flames burst from the gas-line-filled tanker last night they were reported to have sucked in some workers on docks of the Cities Service Oil Co. refinery. But no official could release an

Eden Cites War Risk in Red Policies

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

LONDON, Jan. 18—Prime Minister Eden warned tonight that a world war could easily be touched off by hostilities in a critical region such as the Middle East. "There is plenty of dry tinder about," he declared. "Governments should beware lest in trying to undermine long-established friendships between others they embroil themselves in graver perils."

COLD WAR CHANGES

Sir Anthony said that in recent months the character of the contest between the Communist powers and the Western democracies had changed, "not for the better." But he also emphasized that there was less fear of world conflict today because of "the deterrent of nuclear weapons."

Sir Anthony did not elaborate his remarks about the changed character of the East-West contest, nor did he identify the governments he cautioned. But it seemed evident that he was alluding particularly to Soviet penetration of the Middle East through offers of military and economic aid and to Communist attempts to stir up anti-British feeling in such Middle East countries as Egypt and Jordan.

The marked emphasis Sir Anthony placed on the deterrent power of nuclear weapons was interpreted by some observers as giving indirect support to Secretary of State Dulles in the controversy over his "brink of war" statement.

DULLES NOT MENTIONED

The Prime Minister did not mention Dulles nor did he refer to the controversy. But he made it plain that Britain still was firmly convinced that nuclear weapons were the best deterrents to war.

"Remove the deterrent, or take risks in pretending that it is not there, and the world outlook would be justifying indeed," he said. "The justification of both the atomic and hydrogen bombs is that they are deterrents so awful that no country could risk their use against itself."

Sir Anthony addressed a Conservative party rally in the industrial city of Bradford, Yorkshire.

Democrats Rap Dulles, Wilson Clash on Brink

By WILLIAM S. WHITE
(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—Democratic attacks on Secretary of State Dulles rose in vigor today with charges of a dangerous disharmony between the foreign and military policies of the Eisenhower administration.

The Republicans counter-attacked with equally increasing severity in a national debate over Dulles' claims that the administration three had narrowly averted war through "strong" diplomatic action.

While the Democrats were still centering their fire short of the top Republican figure, the President himself, some of the Republicans opened up on the most important contender for the Democratic presidential nomination, Adlai E. Stevenson.

They also went back to assail the Truman administration and its secretary of state, Dean Acheson.

The dispute, now in its sixth day, was provoked primarily by a statement by Dulles to Life Magazine in which, referring to past crises in Korea, Indochina and Formosa, he was quoted: "We walked to the brink and we looked it in the face. We took strong action."

KEY EXCHANGES

These were the day's principal exchanges between the Democrats and the Republicans:

1. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn.) asserted that Dulles had compromised his further usefulness in office by a "catastrophic" blunder that had "delivered us into the hands of the Soviet propaganda machine" by picking the United States as recklessly martial in spirit.

Humphrey, in a Senate speech, recalled that Secretary of Defense Wilson had said yesterday that he had never understood the United States to be "quite that close to war."

The Minnesota senator said that "if we are going to be on the brink of war three times in three years, surely we ought to tell the secretary of defense about it."

RALLY TO SUPPORT

2. Some of the most prominent orthodox Republicans moved forward to Dulles' support in this political crisis, in spite of the fact that they are not in his wing of the Republican Party.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, told his colleagues:

"I hope we shall do nothing to undermine the courageous policies and strength which deter war by making known to a potential aggressor in advance that he will lose more than he will gain."

Cold Predicted To Follow Rain

Rain! It finally got here. Atlanta will be both dripping and shivering before the next couple of days' weather has finished its work. The rain probably will end Thursday afternoon.

After the rain stops, the cold will move in, sending the mercury to 28 Friday morning. High for Friday afternoon is expected to be 42. Thursday's extremes were slated at 40 and 48.

Wednesday's temperatures ranged from 30 to 38.

39 Urge University Boost as House Gets School Economy Bills

Limit on Aid Included in 3 Measures

By ALBERT RILEY

Fourteen economy bills will be introduced in the Georgia House of Representatives Thursday, including three controversial school proposals to:

1. Limit state aid for education to 75 per cent of school costs and require counties to provide 25 per cent from local funds.
2. Eliminate visiting teachers.
3. Provide for a fiscal officer to handle Department of Education finances.

OPPOSED BY GEA

School people, including the Georgia Education Assn., are opposed to all three of these bills, which are certain to run into a fight in the House. Some legislators from small, rural counties have expressed fear that a 75 per cent limitation on state aid would put their school systems out of business.

Opponents of the fiscal officer plan argue it would take authority over school finances away from the elected state school superintendent.

Educational leaders have vigorously opposed elimination of visiting teachers they claim help reduce absenteeism and improve instruction.

AIMED AT SAVING

About 60 economy bills in all are scheduled to be introduced eventually in the House to carry out recommendations of a Joint Legislative Economy Committee to save an estimated minimum of $5,000,000 a year in the operation of state government.

The first 14 of these bills were prepared Wednesday and presented to the House clerk for formal introduction Thursday.

They were signed by Rep. Denmark Groover of Bibb, chairman of the Economy Committee; Rep. Woodrow Lavender of Elbert, author of the 1955 resolution creating the committee; Reps. Grady Coker of Cherokee and R. E. Chastain of Thomas, committee members, and others.

Although Groover signed the bills as chairman of the economy panel, he may oppose some of them as House floor leader.

He took the floor Wednesday on a point of personal privilege to say he would sign all of the bills.

Bill Would End Charters If Cities Integrate Parks

A bill requiring revocation of charters of cities which do not maintain segregated public facilities was offered in the House Wednesday.

Apparently aimed at Atlanta's recent compliance with a Federal Court order to desegregate its golf courses, the measure was introduced by Rep. C. M. Jordan of Wheeler County.

Jordan's bill, if adopted, would not be retroactive. "I can't help where it has happened... but this should help cities work out problems like this," the Wheeler solon said. "They can work them out if they try," he declared.

Sen. Knowland of California, the Republican Senate leader, told his colleagues:

"I hope we shall do nothing to undermine the courageous policies and strength which deter war by making known to a potential aggressor in advance that he will lose more than he will gain."

Truck Limit Boost Wins House Panel

By M. L. ST. JOHN

The House Motor Vehicles Committee Wednesday approved a controversial bill increasing the weight and length of trucks. The vote was 27 to 1.

The measure, which doesn't propose any change in the width and height of trucks, will reach the House floor Thursday where a bitter fight is expected.

In view of the anticipated fireworks, Administration Floor Leader Denmark Groover of Bibb has asked rigid enforcement of the rules barring unauthorized persons from the floor.

The administration is split on the bill. Speaker Marvin Moate of Hancock is for the measure and Groover is against it. Proponents claim Gov. Griffin is for the bill, while Griffin, himself, says he is taking no stand.

The committee's action followed a hearing in the Supreme Court chambers Wednesday afternoon.

James Bentley of Atlanta, secretary of the Railroad Association of Georgia, and John Bouhan of Savannah, attorney emeritus for the Georgia Association of County Commissioners, spoke against the bill. Representatives Edgar Blacklock of Clayton and Guy Rutland of DeKalb, authors of the proposal and truck operators themselves, spoke for it. They presented as a witness, Mike Flanagan, former Louisiana state planning engineer now with the American Trucking Association.

The bill would increase the length of trucks from 45 to 50 feet. It would raise the weight per axle from 18,000 to 20,320 pounds.

Bentley said the additional five feet would enable trucks to add another axle, and thereby authorize an additional 18,000 to 20,320 pounds. Rutland declared that the proposed maximum weight of 62,000 pounds would prohibit this much additional weight.

Greyhounds Roll Again As Strike of 200 Ends

Some 200 striking Southeastern Greyhound drivers and mechanics accepted a company back-to-work proposal Wednesday ending a six-day walkout.

The walkout, which began at Jacksonville, Fla., and spread to Chattanooga, Tenn., ended as the strikers agreed to the firing of "30 or 12 employees who precipitated the walkout."

Renewal of service put back into operation bus service between Atlanta and Marietta. Hundreds of commuters were left stranded when the strike began.

The strike occurred without union authorization over alleged payroll shortages and other grievances. A union spokesman said the shortages were made up by the company.

Termination of the walkout was announced by H. Vance Green-slit at Southeastern Greyhound's home offices at Lexington, Ky. Roy Robinson, regional manager

$9 Million More Asked For Colleges

By BRUCE GALPHIN

Thirty-nine members of the Georgia Legislature Wednesday signed a resolution paving the way for a possible floor fight to raise the University System budget by nine million dollars.

The resolution favoring the increase came as reports circulated in the State Capitol Wednesday that Gov. Griffin would urge a "hold-the-line" policy in his budget message Monday.

The reports said Griffin might request holding the university system's budget to the current spending level of 14 million dollars. Wednesday's resolution asked for 23 million dollars.

ASKED BY REGENTS

The 23-million-dollar figure was requested by the Board of Regents and endorsed by a special panel of the University System Committee in the House.

Members of the committee and other representatives caucused in the House chamber immediately after adjournment Wednesday. Rep. J. Ebb Duncan of Carroll, committee chairman, declared "the university system is going to be in a bad state if it doesn't get 23 million dollars."

First signers of the resolution were members of the Clarke and Fulton delegations. They were joined by 34 other representatives, including Dr. Grady Coker of Cherokee County, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee.

CITES FUTURE NEEDS

Wednesday's resolution read: "Be it resolved by the University System of Georgia Committee of the House as follows:

"1. That the needs now and in the future of the units of higher education in Georgia imperatively require a regular appropriation commencing with the next fiscal year on July 1, 1956, of 23 million dollars.

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 18 (AP).

The Virginia House of Delegates gave a 95-0 vote of approval today to a March 5 convention which will amend the state constitution to permit public tuition grants for private education.

The grants are the key in Virginia's plan for avoiding enforced racial integration in public schools. The convention bill received fast, unanimous acceptance Monday from the state Senate. It will now go to Gov. Thomas B. Stanley.

Ike 'Aide' Flips Stack If Pressed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—The White House has a new spokesman. It is a red plastic figure of a man named "Albert" who "blows his top" when pressed.

"Albert" was unveiled publicly today for the first time. James C. Hagerty, the White House press secretary, used the toy to give his answer to a news conference question.

Hagerty had been asked White House reaction to a demand by Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential contender, that the President repudiate or oust Secretary of State Dulles for his controversial "brink of war" interview with Life magazine.

Hagerty listened to the query with a grin, then reached for "Albert." He pressed the toy, and Albert's head flew high on a stretched neck.

Long, Landslide Victor, Pledges La. to Democrats

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 18 (AP)—Former Gov. Earl Long, jubilant after a knockout victory for Louisiana governor that overshadowed even Huey Long's triumphs, today began charting the state's future.

For one thing, he planned a constitutional convention in advance of his May inauguration.

He wants, right quickly if he can, to abolish the constitutional boards created by pro-Eisenhower Gov. Robert Kennon. They control the major state spending agencies.

CONCEDES AT 2 A.M.

With returns from 1,856 of the state's 2,039 precincts in Tuesday's Democratic first primary, the 60-year-old political sensation held a 202,464 ballot lead over New Orleans Mayor Lelespess Morrison.

The mayor, Long's arch-political enemy, conceded defeat at 2 a.m. Long, becoming governor for the third time, established a record even brother Huey never equaled.

GOP DOESN'T OFFER

Republicans did not offer a nominee for the April 17 general election.

The next governor, white-haired and full of boundless energy despite the scare of a heart attack in 1950 while in office, first became governor in 1939 when Gov. Richard Leche resigned in the Louisiana scandals and Long, lieutenant governor, took over. He was elected to a full four-year term in 1948-52. His runaway success in Tuesday's vote even outscored his landslide in the 1948 first primary voting which led to a landslide success in a runoff.

UNOFFICIAL TALLY

The unofficial returns in 1,856 precincts:

Francis Grevenberg 55,649.
Earl Long 375,754.
James M. McLemore 45,371.
DeLespess Morrison 173,290.
Fred Preaus 89,348.

The vote was a harsh defeat for Kennon who, while unable by law to succeed himself, had entered his

Marshall Chiang Hurley Baruch

Truman Blames Chiang's Downfall On His Failure To Heed Marshall

WASHINGTON, Jan. 18 (AP)—Former President Truman blames the loss of China to the Communists mainly on an "old-fashioned war lord" attitude on the part of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and on a refusal by Chiang to heed the advice of Gen. George C. Marshall.

In a new installment of his memoirs, published in Life magazine, Truman says the Communists too refused to listen to reason, but he declares:

"There is no doubt in my mind that if Chiang had been only a little more conciliatory, an understanding could have been reached."

Chiang Kai-shek would not heed the advice of one of the greatest strategists in history and (as a result) lost to the Communists."

GOP'S ATTACK

Marshall's mission, and its failure, have been sharply criticized by many Republicans. Life itself, in an editorial in the issue containing Truman's account of the mission, says, "What Chiang needed was full moral and physical support such as we now give him in his Formosan stronghold."

Truman's view:

"Whether or not I was right in sending Gen. Marshall to China does not depend on what some think they know today. It depends only on what we were able to know in 1945. At that time the belief was general that the various elements in China could be persuaded to unify the country."

"Of course the struggle for power would continue, but there was no reason why the Nationalist government could not be successful in this struggle, as non-Communist governments had been in Europe. If it attended to the fundamental needs of the people and the country."

"In the end, of course, Chiang was defeated by loss of support among his own people and by American arms, as many of his own generals took their armies, equipped through our aid, into the enemy camp. It was when that sort of surrender started to occur on a large scale that I decided to cut off further shipments to China."

RAPS HURLEY

Truman argues, too, that the World War II bring-the-boys-home mood never would have stood for American intervention on the scale some of his critics now say should have been adopted at the time. Truman also administers some knuckle-rapping to Patrick J. Hurley, who preceded Marshall as special emissary to China, and Bernard M. Baruch—the latter in connection with this country's first proposals for international control of atomic energy.

He says Hurley "attacked the administration, the State department and me personally" in a talk with newsmen less than two hours after discussing the Chinese crisis with Truman at the White House and agreeing to go back to China on another peace-making try in the near future.

"To me this was an utterly inexplicable about-face," Truman said, adding he was all set to fire Hurley when Hurley resigned.

BARUCH CASE

As for Baruch, Truman says that when he called in the "Elder Statesman" to help on the atom control plan, Baruch—apparently "concerned whether he would receive public recognition"—sought to define his own role in the drafting of the plan.

"I had no intention," Truman says, "of having him tell me what his job should be. I made that clear to him, in a very polite way."

"Most Presidents," Truman comments, "have received more advice

21 Are Slain In Bombay Tribal Riots

75 Others Shot In Nehru Protest

BOMBAY, India, Thursday, Jan. 19 (AP)—Rioters defied a new curfew and fought a pre-midnight battle Wednesday with police over the future of the City of Bombay.

The rioters lost nearly 100 of their numbers in dead and wounded for the day.

The violence began Monday in protest against a decision of Prime Minister Nehru to keep Bombay apart from the surrounding states and their language differences.

CASUALTIES COUNTED

The government reported early today 21 rioters were shot to death and 75 wounded by 114 bursts of police gunfire between 10 a.m. and midnight Wednesday.

The last previous official count earlier Wednesday evening had given the total dead as 10 since Monday in all Bombay State.

The federal government in New Delhi said it was helpless unless Bombay authorities asked army intervention to stop the rioting.

NEW ORDERS

Police had got new curfew orders Wednesday to shoot down disturbers on sight.

Then the biggest concerted attack on police came last night.

Several hundred Maratha-speaking Indians, whose community represents about half of Bombay's three million people, engaged in battle with police in the Sewri slum area.

BREAK CURFEW

Gangs of demonstrators violated the new curfew simultaneously in six places at 10 p.m. Police reported they fired at each disturbance.

Government sources said that outside the shooting area 250 other persons were injured Wednesday by acid bombs, stonings and fires set by rioters.

Rail communication between Bombay and central and southern India was paralyzed by sabotage between Bombay and Poona.

BLOCK RAILS

Elsewhere mobs placed boulders on the tracks and broke overhead power lines. They tried one attack on the Chola powerhouse that supplies railway electric current.

Firemen and police had been on emergency duty 72 hours straight.

At one point six police were wounded by a homemade bomb thrown among them. This was in addition to dozens of firemen, police and home guards wounded in mob violence.

Find Girl, 7, Molested; Nab Suspect

MESA, Ariz., Jan. 18 (AP)—A 7-year-old girl, missing since she stepped off a school bus near her ranch home yesterday, was found under a bush on the desert east of here today.

At the hospital, Dr. W.B. Patterson confirmed that Carla Hixon had been sexually molested.

He said she had been beaten on the head, shoulders and legs.

Her condition was reported as serious if not critical.

The blonde, blue-eyed daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hixon had been hunted by more than 300 persons.

Sheriff L. C. Call Boies said the girl regained consciousness about 6 p.m. and told him:

"He (the assailant) wanted to pick me up and take me home. I didn't want to get in the car. Then he hit me . . . and dragged me into the car. Then he took me out on the desert."

Boies said the girl described her assailant as a young man with brown hair. She said he was wearing a striped shirt and that his car was dark blue or black and had orange plates.

Minutes later deputies found a dark car abandoned near U.S. Highway 60-70-80 east of here, and picked up two men in the vicinity.

East Germany Army Being Bared at Last

BERLIN, Jan. 18 (UP)—Communist East Germany tonight formally approved establishment of a "national people's army," including sea and air forces, which actually has been building since 1949.

Troops will wear the field gray uniforms of Hitler's Nazi land forces, and the army will operate within the framework of the Warsaw pact setting up a Communist-style NATO. An official said the army will have the latest weapons, presumably meaning atomic weapons.

In contrast to the long and bitter debate in the West German Parliament before remilitarization was approved, the rubber-stamp East German Parliament today voted for rearmament without a dissenting voice. Debate lasted two hours.

The Communists said they decided to establish an army for "defense," and a new ministry of defense to counter the "American-led mercenary aggressive" Wehrmacht in West Germany.

Hoover Demands Negro Retract Rap at Till Probe

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Jan. 18 (AP)—FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover accused a Negro civil rights leader of making "false and baseless" charges against the FBI for its handling of Negro slayings in Mississippi.

In a letter released by the FBI office here, Hoover called on Dr. T. R. M. Howard of Mound Bayou, Miss., to submit evidence of his "irresponsible" charges or "issue a public retraction."

Hoover said Howard's statement as reported by the press of the FBI's investigative role in the deaths of Emmett Till and two other Negroes "reflect a complete disregard for the facts on your part."

TWO STORIES CITED

"You as an American citizen, have every right to express yourself as you see fit," Hoover said in his letter. "However, I do not feel you have any right whatsoever to be wrong in your facts, particularly when they are used in public statements concerning serious matters."

The FBI director cited two specific stories.

Hoover said the Baltimore Morning Sun last Sept. 26 carried a news story headlined "Probe of South's FBI Agents Asked." He said the story quoted Howard as telling a Negro organization "we must find out why Southern investigators of the FBI can't seem to solve a crime where a Negro is involved." He said Howard was referring to the slayings of Till, the Rev. George Lee and Lamar Smith.

Hoover pointed out that it is the FBI's duty merely to investigate alleged civil rights violations and submit its findings to the criminal division of the Justice Department. "The FBI is not a policy-making organization," he said.

Hoover also referred to a story in the Chicago American on Dec. 28, 1955 in which Howard was quoted as saying "confidential information usually leaks from the local FBI offices and witnesses in Negro slayings are subjected to pressures as a result."

Hoover said, "from the information available to me, I know of no such incident."

PAST WORK IN SOUTH

Hoover said the FBI "is doing everything within the scope of existing legislation in civil rights matters, and our fair and prompt investigations have done much to increase public respect for and consciousness of civil rights."

"You seem to have conveniently forgotten the work of this bureau which was largely responsible for the virtual elimination of lynchings in the South and also was mainly responsible for breaking up of the Ku Klux Klan in the Carolinas and Georgia."

18,826 Can Vote Friday On Boosting School Taxes

By RICHARD ASHWORTH

Fulton County school officials Wednesday were hoping for a heavy turnout of voters for Friday's referendum on raising the limitation on county school taxes to 25 mills.

An official of Tax Commissioner T. E. Suttles' office said there are 18,826 voters qualified for the referendum—or about 3,000 less than last year.

The official said the decrease was caused by disqualification of voters for various reasons, including failure to vote during a two-year period.

MAJORITY NEEDED

The 1956 total for the county school district includes 18,124 white and 702 Negro voters.

One school official said educators were hoping the referendum to raise the maximum on county school taxes from 15 to 25 mills "will not be lost by default." During a Jan. 9 county school bond referendum last year, only 2,400 citizens voted.

The bond issue passed, however, because only a simple majority of the votes cast is required in such referendums.

The school official said educators' feelings about the Friday vote are the same as those given in a special presentation of the May-June Fulton Grand Jury which advised county school taxpayers, "To fail to act at all will be to choose and lose by default."

OPTION ON BALLOT

The referendum will be a "for" or "against" vote. The ballot for the votes gives this option on the recommendation of the Fulton County Board of Education establishing a 25-mill maximum limitation on taxes for the support and maintenance of education in the Fulton County School District.

School officials say the need for additional revenue which could be provided within the higher tax limitation has been brought on by increasing enrollments, expiration of a $300,000 emergency appropriation and possibility of less revenue for schools under the tax reappraisal program which became effective this year.

County legislators have promised to introduce legislation to reenact any needed emergency funds the day after the referendum if a favorable vote is cast.

A. L. De Foor Gets Yaarab Shrine Helm

Andrew L. De Foor, Atlanta business and civic leader, was elected Illustrious Potentate of the Yaarab Shrine Temple at the 66th annual meeting Wednesday night.

Others elected were E. Carter Coble, chief rabban; William M. Rapp, assistant rabban; Cy N. Dunn, high priest and prophet; Norman W. Petts, Oriental guide; F. J. (Chick) Hosch, recorder, and Lou P. Taylor, treasurer.

Some 1,400 Shriners of the Atlanta temple, which covers north Georgia with units in 14 other cities, attended the meeting.

De Foor is a native of Morrow. He joined Yaarab Temple in 1943. He is a member of the Optimist Club, the Chamber of Commerce and is a member and former chairman of the board of deacons of the Central Presbyterian Church. He succeeds James W. Newman.

Driving Case Of Secretary of Senate Is Re-Set

George Daniel Stewart, 42, secretary of the state senate, Wednesday failed to appear in municipal court on a drunk charge and Judge Luke Arnold continued the case until Thursday.

Stewart, whose home address was listed as 411 Pinecrest Dr., NE, was taken into custody early Wednesday by Patrolmen E. P. Camp and A. B. Williams on a charge of being drunk in an auto, records show.

Station Capt. Reggie McLean said Stewart was released after posting $15 collateral and was scheduled for trial at 7 a.m. Court officials said Stewart failed to appear and the charge was continued.

193,800 in DeKalb; 30 Move In Each Day

The population of DeKalb County grows by about 30 each day. By 1980 the population will have doubled to about 400,000.

A report prepared by George W. Simons Jr. and Associates of Jacksonville estimated the April 1955 county population at 193,800. The report was presented by Louis Cook, director of the planning commission, at a county commission meeting Tuesday.

Symphony Wows Ga. Tech Audience

White ties and tails wowed t-shirts and blue jeans as the Atlanta Symphony performed for Georgia Tech Wednesday night.

Maestro Henry Sopkin arranged an appropriate program and proved himself an able lecturer and comedian as well as conductor.

The featured work was a bold, powerful reading of the Tchaikovsky "Symphony No. 4." It may have been that the "harder" Tech auditorium made for a natural improvement in sound over the Municipal Auditorium, but the Symphony seemed unusually firm and assured, whatever the reason.

Only in the second movement did the pace degrade to a sort of methodical plodding. The error was overcome nicely in the third, which featured brilliant interplay between the winds and pizzicato strings. The fourth built to a dashing climax, paced by clashing cymbals and cannonading tympani.

The Overture to Mozart's "Marriage of Figaro" proved a dramatic reading. The orchestra developed such unity as to sound at times like one, big, harmonious instrument.

The second half of the program was more of the "pop" variety. The Symphony also repeated its graceful performance of Ravel's "Pavane for a Dead Princess."

Borodin's "Polovtsian Dances," a rich tapestry of orchestral sounds, proved so popular with the Tech audience as to lead to a series of encores, concluding with a full-scale treatment of the "Ramblin' Wreck" theme.

Children of Fulton Deserve 'Yes' Vote

Tomorrow Fulton County voters will go to the polls to decide whether to raise the tax limitation for school purposes from 15 to 25 mills. Briefly, the facts making the vote necessary are these:

Fulton County schools are now operating at a deficit of about $500,000 a year—to which has been added a loss of $300,000 from a special county appropriation.

Auditors who have studied the total evaluation of Fulton County property in relation to the present tax rate report that school revenues are inadequate to operate the schools without a drastic curtailment of present school services.

In addition, revenues are not growing at a rate commensurate with the increased school population and the need for teachers, equipment and rising costs in general. Every economy possible will not erase the deficit.

Unless Fulton County votes affirmatively tomorrow, there is indeed a grave danger of eventual collapse of the county school system. It is up to the parents to make the decision—the parents and those who want all youngsters to have their chance.

Even the aversion to additional taxes—and everyone knows about the growing burden—cannot excuse failure to provide educational opportunities for our children.

Dulles' Newest Blunder Fits Familiar Pattern

Secretary of State Dulles, who reportedly read over in advance the manuscript of the boastful article published by a national magazine relating how often he had walked the nation to the brink of war and pulled it back again, now says the article "went a little too far."

Secretary of Defense Wilson said there were "all sorts of brinks" but he had never believed the United States was as close to war as his colleague seemed to believe.

Secretary Dulles' article did offend many of our friends. It seemed to give the impression that we had a policy of moving toward war as a means of forcing others to retreat from it. It enabled the Russians to say again we are "aggressors."

The article also declared his flirting with war was with the approval of the President. That Mr. Eisenhower should choose a national magazine in which to proclaim his policy is almost incredible. That Mr. Dulles should do so is in keeping with his lack of perspective.

The conclusion that Mr. Dulles is an inept man and, therefore, a dangerous one to have in so critical a position as secretary of state, is one which seriously disturbs all those, both Republicans and Democrats, who have sought to carry on a bipartisan program.

Mr. Dulles seems to move from one diplomatic "malapropism" to another. They are each costly. That Secretary of Defense Wilson, also a skilled man at putting the foot in one's mouth, should think Mr. Dulles his superior at this game is indicative of deep Cabinet displeasure with the secretary of state.

If a convenient face-saving method could be found to bring it off, Mr. Dulles undoubtedly would be allowed to leave the office.

Effects of the Atom Will Be Studied Here

The South and atomic energy will be the theme of a conference in Atlanta this spring.

Sponsored by six organizations, including the First National Bank of Atlanta, and attended by leaders of many phases of life in the South, the meeting will explore the possibilities of nuclear energy and its impact on Southern business and industry.

Approximately 400 persons are expected to attend. Lectures and seminars will be held. Laboratory sessions are scheduled for Oak Ridge where the businessmen, financiers and government officials will get a close look at the processes which set off the world's latest revolution.

The application of nuclear energy and its by-products to the economy still is staggering, though the world has had several years to consider its effects. Changes are in the making that should make life easier, simpler and more abundant for everyone.

That this meeting will be held in Atlanta is particularly appropriate. For Atlanta is the capital of a region that is just beginning to come of age economically and that should benefit greatly from this new source of power.

Gen. Lee's Greatness Grows With the Years

An examination of history shows that an intangible but decisive element of greatness is human character. History's great men have lived in the hearts and minds of those who followed not only for their deeds but for the principles which motivated them.

Such a man was Gen. Robert E. Lee, whose birthday we celebrate today. And although remembered best as the Confederate leader, the intangibles about Lee have made him a national hero. His birthday will be observed in communities all over the land.

At his death in 1870—a scant five years after the close of the War Between the States—the entire nation mourned. This was well-expressed in an editorial in the New York Herald the following day, which a reader kindly passed on to us. Excerpts from it follow:

"The expressions of regret which sprang from the few who surrounded the bedside of the dying soldier and Christian on yesterday will be swelled today into one mighty voice of sorrow resounding throughout our country and extending over all parts of the world where his great genius and his many virtues are known."

"For not to the Southern people alone shall be limited the tribute of a tear over the dead Virginian. Here in the North, forgetting that the time was when the sword of Robert Edward Lee was drawn against us—forgetting and forgiving all the years of bloodshed and agony—we have long since ceased to look upon him as the Confederate leader but have claimed him as one of ourselves; have cherished and felt proud of his military genius as belonging to us; have recounted and recorded his triumphs as our own; have extolled his virtues as reflecting upon us—for Robert Edward Lee was an American and the great nation which gave him birth would be today unworthy of such a son if she regarded him lightly."

There was more of the same but the quoted passages show that Gen. Lee's greatness transcended his mere military achievements. He became a symbol, as did Abraham Lincoln, of the great forces uniting all our people into one nation. Today on his birthday those forces are still with us as the country pays tribute to his memory.

Earl Long Victory Has National Significance

Earl Long, brother of the late Huey Long of Kingfish fame, has won a surprising first round election in Louisiana. It had been believed he would lead the field but all the experts in the state were sure a runoff would be necessary.

The race took on national importance when the nominee said, in answer to questions, that he hoped President Eisenhower would not run again because he might "accidentally win."

"I don't want any more Republicans," he said. "I think they are bad for the nation. . . . I just think Republicanism is upside down."

Mr. Long supported Adlai Stevenson in 1952 and was instrumental in holding Louisiana in the Democratic column despite the efforts of Gov. Kennon to carry it for Eisenhower. Gov. Kennon was counted on, had his faction won, to be on the Republican side once more.

The Long victory means Louisiana will be Democratic in the fall. It also is believed Stevenson now is assured of the Louisiana delegation in his fight for delegates. Long's majority was the greater because he ran well in New Orleans. Mayor de Lesseps Morrison needed a tremendous majority there and failed to get it. Long was not too far behind.

Bigger Trucks on Roads Mean Bigger Hazards

The Motor Vehicle Committee of the House of Representatives has approved a measure that would permit increases in maximum length of trucks from 45 to 50 feet and the weight limit from 18,000 to 20,320 pounds per axle.

The measure does not affect the width of trucks, as may have been inferred unintentionally by a cartoon and headline on Wednesday's Constitution editorial page. Actually both were intended to call attention to the pressure for bigger and bigger trucks on our narrow roads—whether lengthwise, sideways or loadwise.

The Constitution is proud of the state's huge trucking industry and the part it plays in the economy of the state. But there must be a limit somewhere to the size of these trucks and trailer trucks on the state's narrow and increasingly crowded highways.

Opponents of this measure are on sound ground. The General Assembly should think of road conditions, the growing volume of automobile and truck traffic and the multiplicity of traffic hazards and problems before even giving serious consideration to this bill.

Pulse of the Public

Proposed Bill To Increase Truck Weights Declared Threat to Georgia's Highways

Atlanta—I was startled to read in Sunday's paper that a legislative bill has been introduced which would allow weight and length increases for heavy trucks. By way of interest I would like to quote from a Washington newspaper: "The Highway Research Board, which three years ago made a six-month study of the effect of heavy trucks on concrete roads, reported that a 32,000-pound tandem-axle truckload did six times the damage of an 18,000-pound single-axle truckload—and a 44,800-pound tandem load did 50 times the damage."

"It's easy to see how much less damage a mere 3,000-pound passenger auto would create."

It is an established fact that for every cent of gasoline tax paid, a heavy commercial truck gets five times as many miles of road use as does the average passenger car. What do the truckers want, blood?

How supposedly intelligent individuals can cry for better roads and at the same time support bills which would defeat this end is beyond me.

But the truck lobby has spoken and our weak politicians have defeated President Eisenhower's road bill. But perhaps this is a blessing in disguise; for what lucid thinking person can countenance the expenditure of billions of taxpayers' dollars for new roads which won't sustain the pounding barrage of large tractor trailers.

He Wants More Data On Fund for Republic

Atlanta—We, the public, would like more information about the Fund for the Republic than was given by J. P. Lyford on Jan. 12 in Pulse of the Public.

Is it a public or private fund? Who started the movement for such funds?

PHIL GOODLY.

Editor's Note: The Fund for the Republic is financed by the Ford Foundation.

Agile Goat-Like Leaps Urged on Pedestrians

St. Louis, Mo. — It is doubtful that anybody will be able to get one government official's goat.

He is Dr. B. C. Swindle, director of the Agriculture Department Station, Clifton, N.J., and he has first-hand knowledge of the bouncing Markhorns goats from Pakistan.

These goats can leap more than 10 feet straight into the air from standing position and they are described as obstreperous, also afflicted with claustrophobia.

We have pedestrians who are learning to jump ten feet straight up and with increasing horsepower on automobiles, we'll pit bouncing pedestrians against bouncing Markhorns goats any day.

FRED WEAVER.

Equal Education Called State Responsibility

Clayton—I note with particular interest your cartoons and editorials of Jan. 7 and 13. You continue to portray Georgia's schools as in the days of the little red school house and imply that Dr. Collins and Dr. Purcell condone inefficiency. I do not believe this is true. Consolidations have been made and are being made as rapidly as construction work can be done. I think Georgia has made amazing improvement in this respect.

I firmly believe that it is the responsibility of the state to see that every child has equal opportunity to get an education. Let's really adequately finance all the schools for all the children of this great state.

Toothpicks Are High These Days

Short Subjects: Some things look the same wherever you go—people, dogs, fireplugs, filling stations, school buses.

One doesn't have to build a house to know the high price of lumber. Have you bought toothpicks lately? . . . If you were marooned on a desert island and could choose a five-book library, what five would you pick?

The selection will vary, but three that would do the least good are the bank book, the checkbook and the pocketbook. . . . Since that juvenile encyclopedia won $50,000 on TV the other night, a father I know has been holding a stick over his 10-year-old, forcing the lad to work out an hour a day with the World Almanac. . . . An old-timer is one who remembers when you saw a red automobile and could be sure it was the fire chief. . . . Forsyth Street "Dots": W. H. Work Is Essential To Success in Life

As I read the Bible seeking the basic principles of successful and happy living, one that I find commended again and again is work. In the Bible there is no defense for a lazy man and that continues to hold true today.

Look at these words from God's Book: "If any provide not for his own and especially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel" (1 Timothy 5:8).

Also this: "If any would not work, neither should he eat. For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but as busybodies. Now them that are such we command and exhort by our Lord Jesus Christ, that with quietness they work, and eat their own bread" (2 Thessalonians 3:10-12).

One of the greatest problems of young people today, especially in our cities and towns, is that they never learn to work. The boy on the farm had to milk the cows, chop the wood, plow the fields, but in the cities the milk comes in bottles, the houses are heated with automatic furnaces and the yardman comes to rake the leaves and cut the grass. Of course, many boys do find jobs but too many others do not need to find jobs and they loaf their way into manhood.

Some people are like Sam who was discharged. "Where's Sam?" asked an acquaintance. "Sam does not work here any more." "Do you have someone in mind for this vacancy?" "Fshaw, when Sam left he didn't leave no vacancy."

It seems to me there is too much talk about vacations, holidays, retirement age and pay, hours, etc., and not enough talk about really getting to work. Maybe today would be a good time to bring out

Washington Gladden's "The Worker's Pledge":

"One thing I am resolved upon: I will not be a sponge or a parasite. I will give an honest equivalent for what I get. I want no man's money for which I have not rendered a full return. I want no wages I have not earned. . . . No man, no body of men shall ever be made poor by their dealings with me. If I can give a little more than I get every time, in that shall be my happiness. . . . I will take good care to put into the common fund more than I take out."

God inspired holy men to write for all men to read that work is blessed and good for us. "Be thou diligent to know the state of thy flocks, and look well to thy herds" (Proverbs 27:23). "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with all thy might" (Ecclesiastes 9:10).

My acquaintance with people is not as wide as I would like it to be but I have come to know a considerable number of successful men and women. These differ in many respects, some are college graduates, others are not; some are tall, others are short; there are many differences, yet all successful people I yet have come to know have one thing in common—they are willing to work and they do work. That is absolutely essential.

Roscoe Drummond

Both Parties Back Aid to Schools Bill

WASHINGTON—Some political writers and some politicians continue to lament the lack of deep differences between the Republican and Democratic parties.

The opposite conclusion has always seemed to me more persuasive; namely, that one of the virtues of our democratic system is that it is substantially free from the ideological chasms which divide some other nations and frequently reduce their governments to impotence.

It is a significant fact, that while many of these multiple-party countries have coalition governments, the American party system is made up of two "coalition" parties.

The objective of the American political party is to achieve a coalition of national opinion within itself and this more often than not tends to unite the country rather than to fragment it.

Two consequences flow from this fact: The differences within each party are increased. The differences between the two parties are decreased.

There are many issues which currently unite the two parties more than divide them. A good example is the federal aid to education issue which is now before Congress. Federal assistance of the magnitude the President has proposed is a radical departure from anything the government has done in the past. But today both parties are responding substantially the same way to the same consensus of national conviction that the perilous deficit of classrooms can be met only by decisive federal action.

The result is that the range of differences between the proposals now offered by both parties is small while the range of agreement is large.

In the area of direct federal grants for school construction President Eisenhower asked for $1,250,000,000 spread over five years.

Adlai Stevenson had advocated $1,600,000,000 spread over four years.

The main Democratic bill of last year advocated $1,000,000,000 spread over two years.

The federal aid to education program which the President sent to Congress last week disproves the heavy-handed charges which were leveled at the White House Conference on Education last fall. Some of the politicians sounded off to the effect that the whole series of educational conferences, local, state and finally at the White House, was unnecessary, repetitious and useless.

It is the belittling of the White House Conference on Education which now stands discredited.

This conference proved to be an invaluable boon to the nation, to the Congress and to the President—and all three needed it.

There is every prospect that a sound federal aid to education bill will be passed this year if it does not get hauled by an anti-segregation rider. It would seem to me to be a grievous disservice to the nation if it does. I am not arguing against the most faithful carrying forward of the Supreme Court's unanimous school desegregation decision. I am simply arguing against government-by-rider. Desegregation of the public schools will not be advanced by preventing Congress from building the schools.

Thomas L. Stokes

Wars and Defense Get Bulk of Budget

WASHINGTON—Submission of the annual budget to Congress by the President and its publication gives us an opportunity once again to find out how much of our substance goes to war—the cost of past wars which we still are paying and will pay for many years and the cost of defense against possible future wars.

This annual sacrifice to Mars is a grim commentary on the state of so-called civilized society in the Twentieth Century.

In reviewing it, as has become this reporter's annual custom, no fine moral is offered—only the facts for whatever good their contemplation might produce.

Here, then, is the sad story in brief:

Sixty-four per cent of total expenditures proposed in the 1957 budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 goes for what the budget calls "protection" or, in cold figures, 42.4 billions of the 65.9 billions total of the budget.

That breaks down into 35.5 billions for the defense department's military functions; 2.5 billions for the mutual security program of the military help to our allies; 1.9 billions for the Atomic Energy Commission; 400 millions for stockpiling of strategic materials and for defense production expansion, and two billions in related programs including foreign economic aid to our friends.

To those expenditures should be added the funds spent for veterans in compensation, pensions, schooling, hospitalization and such, for which the 1957 fiscal year budget assigns 4.9 billions. That brings to 47.3 billions what might be included in the broad category of the cost of war.

There also should be included the interest on our public debt, for the bulk of that debt represents war expenditures. The budget carries seven billions for interest on the public debt, and that brings the total war costs to 54.3 billions.

And that, fellow citizens, is 82 per cent of the budget.

A sobering fact in the whole story is the chapter about our veterans which loses none of its dramatic significance despite the monotone with which it is told in the President's budget message:

"We now have more than 22 million veterans. When benefits for dependents and survivors are considered, nearly one-half of our population is potentially entitled to veterans' benefits."

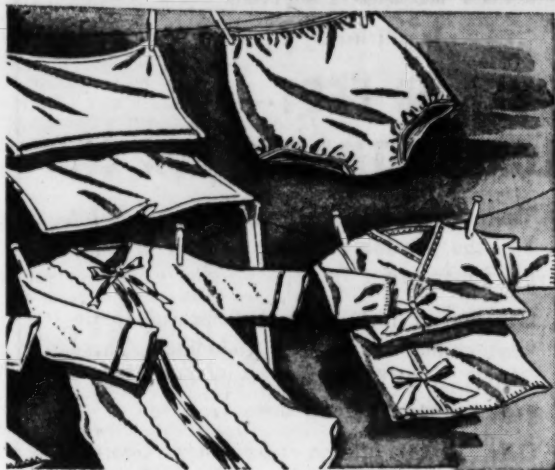

And the cost goes up year after year. More this year than last year, the figures reveal.

Republican policy committee, observed:

"Rather than being criticized for 'brink of war' policies, Secretary Dulles should be commended that his policy is to keep us out of war."

WILEY FIRES BACK

3. The senior Republican foreign policy spokesman in the Senate, Sen. Wiley of Wisconsin, declared that it was the Democrats who were playing irresponsible partisan politics and "unwittingly" giving a false and damaging picture of this country abroad.

4. Sen. Symington (D-Mo.) joined Humphrey in suggesting that Dulles had gone to the "brink" of wars of which Secretary of Defense Wilson had not even been aware.

Symington asserted that Wilson in fact had "continued to bull through his program of heavy defense cuts."

BLAMES TRUMAN

5. Sen. Bender (R-Ohio) asserted that wherever the country had been led "to the brink of war" it had been the fault of former President Truman and Acheson.

The Democrats, said Bender, were "eager to forget and wish the nation to forget that the key to all developments in Korea, Indochina and Formosa was the Communist conquest of China.

"... Our acquiescence in the Communist domination of China gave the Reds an arrogant confidence."

"Mr. Adlai Stevenson is now accusing our secretary of state of playing Russian roulette with our foreign policy. The Truman administration loaded the pistol pointed at our head in every danger spot on the globe today."

And Wiley said:

"Surely millions of Democratic voters might expect higher-type remarks than Mr. Stevenson made about Secretary of State Dulles."

Though it was a fact that Dulles' phrase about "brink of war" had been "ambiguously phrased," the secretary of state was not responsible for that, Wiley asserted, and it was the Russians and not the secretary who were "responsible for America's having been close to conflict."

He recalled that the Democrats had supported nearly every aspect of the administration's foreign policy in Congress and demanded of them to say what changes they would now make and where they would make them.

UNCLE BILL 108

YankeeKiss Conquers a Grey Vet

CRESTVIEW, Fla., Jan. 18 (UP)

"Uncle Bill" Lundy, an unreconstructed rebel and Florida's only living Civil War veteran, celebrated his 108th birthday today by getting his first kiss from a "Yankee" girl.

Lundy received hundreds of gifts and a big kiss from Miss Terry Broderick, 20, senior at Ohio State University, during his annual birthday celebration at the Okaloosa County courthouse.

"That'll make me go another year," the old soldier said as Miss Broderick and Mrs. Lois Davis, a Southern belle, planted kisses on his wrinkled cheek.

Lundy, who fought with the Alabama Home Guard when Sherman cut through the South to end the war, is one of three surviving Confederate veterans.

The local high school band played both of Uncle Bill's national anthems—"Dixie" and the "Star Spangled Banner." And the man who never shot a Yankee, but secretly wished he had said that today he hasn't got an enemy in the world.

"I love everybody, even the Yankees," he said.

$17 Million School Fund To Be Aired

Adoption of a 1956 school budget calling for an outlay of $17,740,000 for operation and maintenance is scheduled at a special meeting of the Board of Education Saturday.

Board president Devereaux F. McClatchey scheduled a public hearing urging anyone interested to appear at the session at 10 a.m. on the 13th floor of City Hall.

The projected budget contemplates an outlay of $3,351,256 more than the $14,388,744 spent last year. It also anticipates raising the 8½-mill special 1955 school levy to 9½ mills.

Also included in the new budget is $200,000 to revamp the school administration as recommended in the Atlanta School Study Council report. It is expected that reorganization of the administration into six school areas with an assistant superintendent in charge of each will not become wholly operative until schools open next September for the 1956-57 term.

McClatchey said anyone wishing to express himself on the proposed new budget will be heard.

Subnormal Rain Puts State Rivers At Record Lows

Subnormal rainfall of the past six months is setting low records for lack of water in Georgia's rivers and reservoirs.

Rivers and streams are down and still falling, which is unusual since both virtually always begin to rise at the turn of the year.

Also well below normal elevation are the state's reservoirs.

Further record lows for January will be set unless heavy rains come, an authority on the subject said.

Should the state enter another drought year like 1954 with dangerously low streams, the spokesman said, they would trickle down to nothing.

Winter rains which usually fill all streams to overflowing by March haven't arrived. The expected dryness of the fall months was not relieved by rain in December and, so far, in January.

Rainfall has been below normal since August, and December flow measurements brought low figures for the month.

As the state awaits much-needed rain, reservoirs, rivers and streams continue to drop.

Almost every body of water in Georgia is below normal, federal authorities have announced.

See No '56 Freeway Bond Issue

All three Fulton County commissioners declared Wednesday they see little chance for additional funds for expressway development to be included in a possible county bond issue this year.

County Commission Chairman James H. Aldridge declared that under the tax reappraisal program which went into effect this year, the county would "have to raise its taxes" to finance bonds for anything other than courthouse remodeling and construction of a new county jail.

Aldridge concurred in statements by Commission Vice Chairman Archie Lindsey and Commissioner Tom Camp that expressway development at present should continue "as far as possible" with available bond funds and any additional funds which might be procured from other government agencies.

All three commissioners said they felt the county would "have its hands full" this year in financing a bond issue to provide funds for the new jail and for the courthouse renewal.

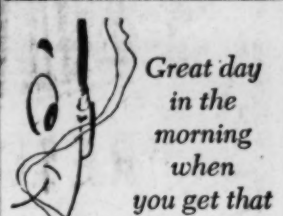

Commissioner Lindsey said he felt that additional funds for the expressway may have to come sometime in the future but added he did not see "at this time" possibility of money being included in a 1956 county bond issue.

The Joint Bond Commission recently said it planned to seek additional financial aid from various governmental agencies to secure rights-of-way on the downtown expressway connector.

Officer Penalized In Escape Here

Pat. H. C. Hammond Wednesday was suspended from duty for five days for permitting a prisoner to escape from a patrol wagon.

Chief Herbert Jenkins said Hammond picked up the prisoner and on the way to headquarters stopped at a store. The prisoner forced a lock on the patrol wagon door and fled. In the order, Jenkins also transferred Hammond from the day watch to the station captain's office on the morning watch.

GOOD-BYE... GOOD ROADS!

The Legislature defeated the BIG TRUCK BILL the last two times it came up.

Now the Big Trucks have introduced a new bill (HOUSE BILL 114) in the Georgia Legislature.

If passed, it will increase each axle load to OVER 20,000 POUNDS—10 TONS

It will increase lengths to

OVER 50 FEET— LONGER THAN A BOX CAR

These heavy trucks are using our roads for 1/5 the per ton mile tax paid by ordinary passenger cars.

Government tests show that Georgia highways cannot stand such pounding. These GIANT MONSTERS endanger the lives of even the most careful driver.

Over 15,000 foreign trucks use Georgia highways for only $1.00 a year.

It is these big trucks, not our farmer's trucks, that are destroying our roads. It is these big trucks that are trying to increase weights.

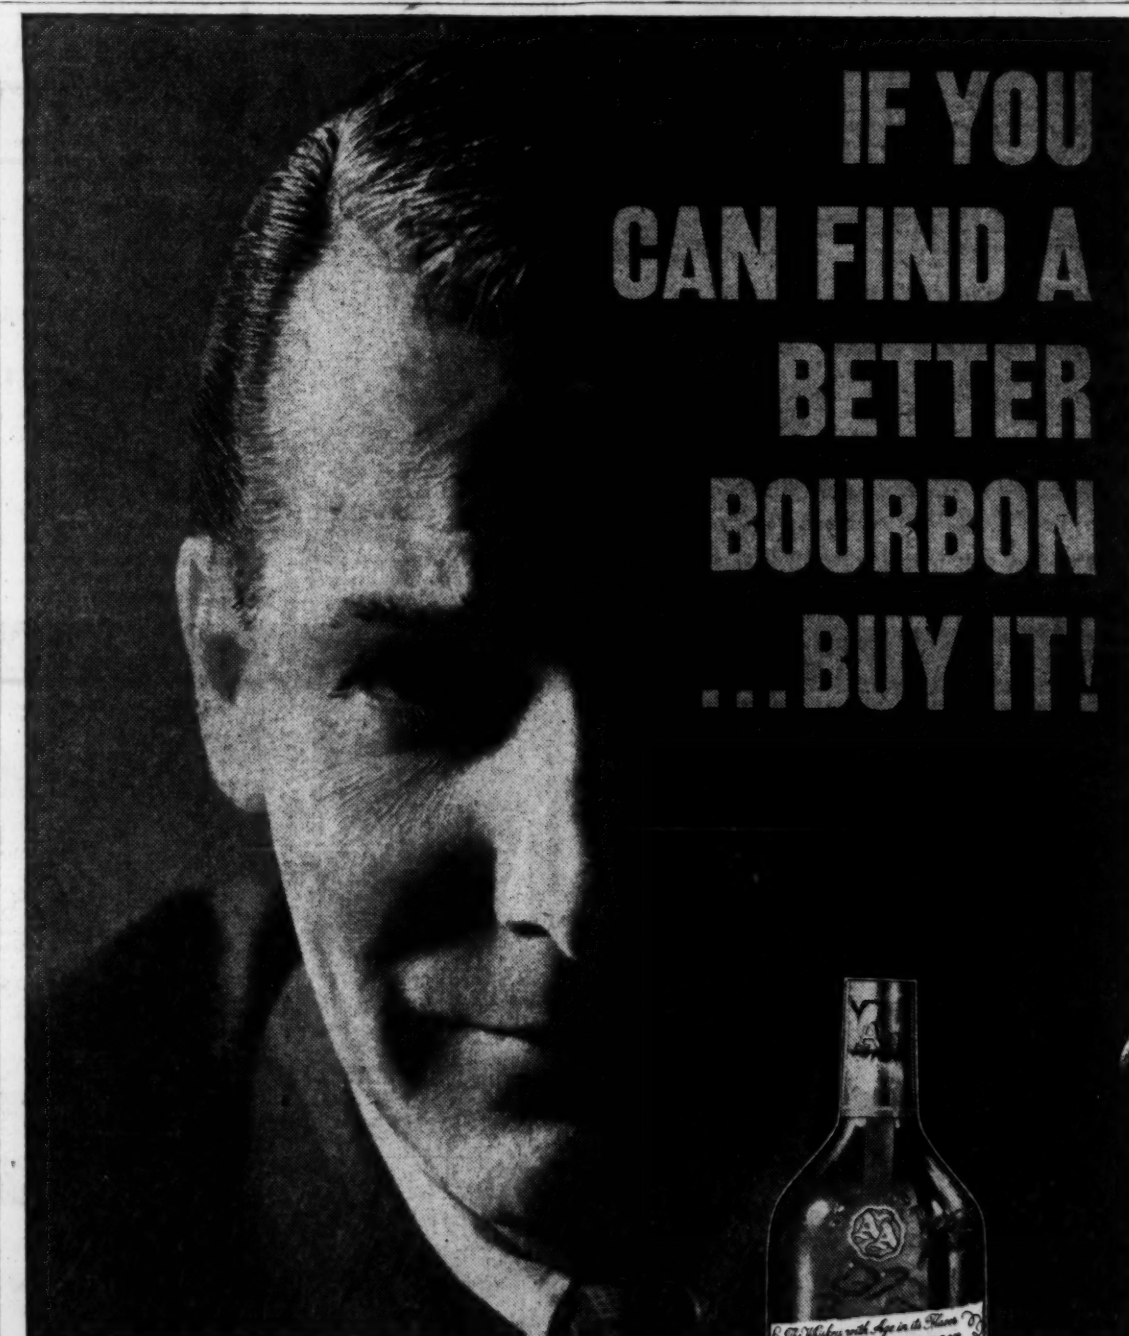

These big trucks are tearing up our roads faster than the highway department can rebuild them.

Van Buren Schools Told To Integrate

FORT SMITH, Ark., Jan. 18 (AP)—Federal Judge John E. Miller today ordered the Van Buren, Ark., school board to "make a proper and reasonable start" toward racial integration.

After a brief hearing, in which only one witness testified, Judge Miller told the school board to report back to him by Aug. 15 on "progress and plans" toward mixing the races in public schools at Van Buren.

Only witness was Everett Kelley, superintendent of Van Buren schools. He testified that overcrowded conditions already had made Van Buren schools substandard in the eyes of the North Central Assn., accrediting agency. Nearly 2,800 school children are involved in the suit. Kelley said there were 2,721 pupils in his schools and that 87 of them were Negroes.

At present, Negroes attend their own elementary school at Van Buren, but must go to adjacent Fort Smith to attend a Negro High School.

Kelley told the court it will "take some time to educate school patrons for integration," and said he did "not intend to integrate until forced, or until the feeling in Van Buren changes." Miller handed down a similar ruling last year in connection with an integration suit involving the Bearden school district in South Arkansas.

40,000 in Tenn. Ask Segregation

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Jan. 18 (AP)—Petitions bearing 40,000 names and calling for segregated schools in the state will be presented to Gov. Frank Clement Monday by the Tennessee Society to Maintain Segregation and affiliated groups. Society President A. A. Canada said tonight.

In making the announcement, Canada lashed out at Clement, whom he described as "our renegade governor," because "he would not grant us a more convenient appointment." The conference is scheduled for 10 a.m. Monday in Nashville.

Grandma Moses Improves On Farm in Painting for Ike

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—A Grandma Moses painting of President Eisenhower's Gettysburg, Pa., farm was the Cabinet gift to the President today to mark the third anniversary of his inauguration.

The President obviously was delighted with the painting and with the artistic liberties the famous artist had taken with his Gettysburg property.

Farmer Eisenhower is proud of his growing herd of Black Angus cattle. He owns only one Holstein and one Brown Swiss.

But Grandma Moses painted four Holsteins to three Black Angus cattle grazing in the pastures.

Eisenhower was delighted to spot the recently built golf green which had grown in size in the transfer from a photograph to an oil canvas.

"I wish it was that big," said the President to Mrs. Eisenhower.

He spotted his three grandchildren—David, Susan and Barbara Eisenhower—riding in the pony

Pier Angeli Falls, Breaking Ankle

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Jan. 18 (AP)—Pier Angeli fell on the stairs of her home last night

The Italian actress, wife of singer Vic Damone, had the limb put in a cast today.

She was due to start rehearsals today for a film at MGM, but the studio indicated it will delay "Somebody Up There Likes Me" until she recovers.

Senate Panel To Eye Auto Freight Rates

(Copyright 1956 by The New York Times Co.) WASHINGTON, Jan. 18—

"Phantom freight" charges often add $75 to $125 to the price consumers pay for automobiles, Sen. Monroney (D-Okla.) said today.

Monroney, chairman of a Senate subcommittee investigating the marketing of autos said his group will give special attention to the freight charge matter when it opens an investigation tomorrow.

The Oklahoma senator said a canvass of nearly 20,000 auto dealers throughout the country, made by his subcommittee in recent months, showed that 15,331 of the auto dealers felt that they should be allowed to specify the mode of transportation in the delivery to them of new cars from factory or assembly plants.

"A study of alleged overcharges by automobile manufacturers through phantom freight charges indicates that such overcharges amount to possibly tens of millions of dollars," Monroney said.

ABOUT ATLANTA

New York Boy, 7, Makes A 'Replica' of Cyclorama

A 7-year-old boy in New Rochelle, N.Y., made a small "replica" of Atlanta's Cyclorama and explained it to his third-grade class.

Jody Shapiro, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Shapiro of New Rochelle, saw the original Cyclorama during a visit to his Atlanta cousin, Karen Hoffman of 577 Loridans Dr., N.E.

Jody wanted his little Northern schoolmates to see a Cyclorama. He enlisted the aid of a second-grade boy, David Nirenblatt, and they made their own "Cyclorama" with miniature toy soldiers, bridges and trains.

North Atlanta Mayor Enters Clash on Fees

The new president of the North Atlanta Businessmen's Assn. Wednesday night told the body that North Atlanta Mayor Joseph Spencer Tuesday morning refused to give him a list of city officials.

The mayor told The Constitution he refused to give the list to association president George MacDonald Tuesday morning because MacDonald said he represented the DeKalb County Grand Jury.

Spencer said that later in the afternoon MacDonald was given a list "as a citizen."

MacDonald told the association Wednesday that he appeared before the grand jury Monday.

The Businessmen's Assn. was formed to "promote mutual interests affecting membership," and will seek to keep business license costs at their current rate, MacDonald pledged at his installation.

The North Atlanta city council has proposed that city business license costs be levied on the basis of the size of a business rather than at $10 per business, which would result in higher fees for many businesses.

MacDonald was selected president of the association Wednesday night. Other officers include Gil Christian, vice president; Arthur H. English, secretary-treasurer; and E. W. Martin of Brookhaven, program chairman.

Treasury's Kendall Here For Ike Fete

David W. Kendall, assistant secretary of the Treasury, will be speaker at a $100-a-plate "Salute to Eisenhower" dinner at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the Biltmore Hotel.

The dinner also will feature a closed-circuit TV greeting to the President by golfer Robert Tyre (Bobby) Jones and other dignitaries. Similar dinner gatherings over the nation will come in for portions of the 30-minute "salute."

The president decided Wednesday to appear in person at the Washington rally and to close the broadcast series. He will speak from a prepared text at his first night-time function since his heart attack. The broadcast will be seen by tens of thousands across the nation.

The dinner, sponsored by the Georgia Republican Central Committee's finance committee, is expected to attract 100 persons, said Robert R. Snodgrass, finance chairman. Reservations may be made by calling Republican state chairman William B. Shartzer at AL. 5470.

The salute is in honor of the third anniversary of Eisenhower's inauguration. In this connection, Shartzer has written the President:

"We in Georgia—believing in your exemplary leadership and having followed your courageous examples in conducting our political lives... pledge you our continued support."

Trailer Upsets, Halts Marietta Traffic on 41

MARIETTA, Jan. 18 (AP)—A heavily loaded tractor-trailer overturned Wednesday on Highway 41 at the north Marietta city limits, blocking traffic several hours.

The driver, Billy Joe Hand, of 136 Park Dr., Decatur, was not believed seriously injured. Hand said the motor failed on a grade and that the air brakes lost compression. As the vehicle began rolling back toward a line of traffic, Hand steered it into an embankment.

Forestry Group Elects Officials At Atlanta Meet

N. W. Sentell of Hodge, La., has been elected president of the Southern Pulpwood Conservation Assn., which is holding its annual three-day meeting in Atlanta Tuesday through Thursday.

New vice president of the association is R. C. Barlenbrock of Chillicothe, Ohio. New directors for the Georgia, South Carolina and northern Florida area were also elected Thursday afternoon. They are John F. Sisley of Macon, M. G. Rawls of Jacksonville, Fla., and H. M. Shirley of Palatka, Fla.

Meniak Club Elects Attorney Erle Phillips

Erle Phillips, attorney, has been elected president of the Meniak Club.

Other officers are James L. Respass Jr., treasurer; Carlton Selph, secretary; and Ralph McClelland Jr., Evan Slider and A. C. (Tommy) Schultz, directors.

Monkey's Curiosity Is His Corral As Police Here Coax and Crate Him

Police here made a capture Wednesday, but not with revolvers, riot guns or the like. Instead, they used an empty apple crate and persuasion.

Their objective was a small monkey, resident in green checked jacket and brass collar, that appeared in the back yard of a home at 2581 Beeler Dr., S.W.

Ptl. W. R. Carter and E. G. Perry said the monkey skipped about playfully—always just out of reach.

Then they got the apple crate and began coaxing. They said when the monkey came over to investigate they flipped the crate over him.

Green jacket and all, he was installed in the Grant Park zoo until his owner can be located.

Virginia Calls Griffin, Miss., S.C. Chiefs to School Parley

RICHMOND, Va., Jan. 18 (AP)—Gov. Stanley today invited three other Southern governors to meet here Tuesday to discuss "public school problems of mutual concern."

Invitations went to Govs. Griffin of Georgia, Coleman of Mississippi and Timmerman of South Carolina.

Tentative arrangements have been made for a meeting of governors of Southern states whose legislatures are in regular session," Stanley said. Final details are expected to be announced this week.

(In Atlanta, Griffin said the conference probably will deal with legislation, since only governors with Legislatures in session were invited.)

Stanley would not say whether it will be to discuss a possible stand on interposition whereby the states would decline to acknowledge the Supreme Court ban on segregated schools.

A delegation of states' rights leaders from the South called on Stanley last week and asked him to take the lead in seeking national recognition for interposition.

Drunk Drivers Get 10-Day Mexico Terms

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 18 (AP)—City authorities have established a 10-day jail sentence for drunken driving. They said increased accidents made it necessary.

Gypsy Joe's Traffic Fine Tour a Flop

Special to The Constitution
NEW YORK, Jan. 18—"Gypsy Joe" Uwanawich told a New York traffic judge Wednesday the pickings from his Southern tour to collect fines from his scowling friends had been mighty slim.

The 70-year-old gypsy leader said that on his visit to eight Southern states he had collected only $475 from tribesmen with outstanding summonses to the New York court. His expenses, he said, were $500.

The judge said Uwanawich had made a "genuine effort" and as a reward imposed only the normal fine for each of the 52 tickets the leader himself had accumulated.

The total: $505. Uwanawich paid $250 and was given until Feb. 6 to pay the balance.

He said he had run into difficulties on the tour, which included Atlanta, because Frank Adams, president of the National Gypsy Assn., had told members not to pay him or they would get in trouble.

What to do for 'TV Stomach'

(Acid indigestion caused by late-hour "snacks")

If you like to "nibble" and drink while watching TV, look out! Don't overdo it! Too often it may lead to acid stomach and hours of night-time tossing. But not if you take 2 Tums as a "nightcap" whenever distress occurs. Tums neutralize excess acid fast! You sleep better—feel fresher. Always keep Tums handy to counteract gas, heartburn. Get a roll now!

So economical—only 10¢ a roll. 3-roll pkg. 25¢.

Villa Rica's Population Seeks Boost by a Merger

By JACK NELSON

Two bills were introduced in the House Wednesday to allow Fullerville to become a part of Villa Rica.

No. 166 would revoke Fullerville's charter. The town's citizens voted in favor of the legislation on Dec. 1, 1935. The 1930 census showed a population of 529 in Fullerville.

No. 165 would extend the Villa Rica city limits to take in Fullerville, which is located adjacent to Villa Rica. Fullerville's town limits extend a radius of one-fourth of a mile from the J. H. Hogue Store.

House Bill No. 137 was introduced Wednesday to prohibit the solicitation of votes in Coweta County on election day anywhere within 150 feet of any voting place.

The House Wednesday passed seven of its local bills.

No. 75, which would change obligations of the Macon city pension fund for firemen and policemen.

No. 76, which would place the Macon Fire and Police Departments under supervision and control of City Council committees.

No. 93, which would lower the voting age in Albany city elections from 21 to 18.

No. 94, which would abolish the maximum five-tenths per cent on ad valorem taxation of corporations in Albany.

No. 109, which would change the terms of office of Colbert city officials.

16 Suspended In Factory for Blind Dispute

Sixteen workers who sought to buy equipment of the State Factory for the Blind at Bainbridge Wednesday were suspended from their jobs.

The workers were among 27 employees who came to Atlanta Tuesday to present a petition to the General Assembly asking to buy part of the mattress making equipment of the factory.

Harold Emett, superintendent of the factory, made the suspensions, charging the workers were absent without leave.

In a letter of suspension to Helen Martin of Bainbridge, Emett was quoted, "We also feel that there may be evidence of disloyalty to the present management."

She said she left the factory with Emett's permission. Miss Martin is secretary-treasurer of the newly formed Abilities of the Blind, Inc., the organization which hopes to buy part of the equipment. The organization has some 60 members.

Emett's letter of suspension also told Miss Martin her work had been unsatisfactory. Upon receipt of the letter, Miss Martin turned in her resignation.

The delegation from the factory representing the membership of Abilities of the Blind, Inc., filed petition for a corporate charter.

Science Develops New Tablet:

Relieves "Hot Flashes," Irritation From Change-of-Life For 8 of 10 Tested—Without Costly Injections

Boston, Mass. (Special)—Medical science now offers women new freedom from much of the miseries of change-of-life! You no longer have to face those years with dread. Today, you can have relief from "hot flashes," tortured nerves and other functionally-caused distress... thanks to a remarkable tablet developed especially to relieve these discomforts. Doctors report amazing results using this home treatment alone... and no expensive injections. Irritability was calmed. Dizziness was relieved. Suffocating heat waves subsided. A feeling of "well-being" returned for women after woman, 8 out of 10 women tested found complete or striking relief! Unlike aspirin and "general-purpose" remedies, this new formula is a unique combination of special medicines... that acts directly on the cause of these troubles. The new tablet acts through a woman's sympathetic nervous system to relieve the tense feelings and physical distress that have brought unhappiness to so many homes. Clinical tests prove it has positive medical action. This amazing formula is now sold at drug stores, without a prescription, under the name of "Lydia Pinkham's Tablets." Developed by the world's largest manufacturer devoted exclusively to women's ailments! Easy-to-take, contain blood-building iron. If you are going through change-of-life, don't let it rob those years of joy. Start taking Pinkham's Tablets at home today. See how fast you can feel your happy self again—without troublesome injections! (Also Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.)

PUSHES FOR ECONOMY
Rep. Woodrow Lavender

House Gets 14 Economy Bills Today

that some of them will "fall by the wayside," but many others will be adopted.

Groover said Gov. Griffin will ask him to request favorable consideration of some of the economy proposals "at the proper time."

BUS ROUTE PROPOSED

Among the first batch of money-saving bills to be introduced will be another school proposal to require the establishment of definite school bus routes.

One bill would take away the separate agency status of the Department of Entomology and put it under the Department of Agriculture.

A similar bill would transfer the Department of Confederate Pensions and Records to the Veterans' Service Department.

The Georgia Citizens' Council would be abolished outright by still another bill.

STATE PAY BILL

One bill that may run into opposition would eliminate payments to state officials for serving on various boards of state government.

Some officials might have to take substantial pay cuts under that bill. They contend that the pay for serving on boards comes out of their own departmental appropriations and is simply calculated in a formula set up for their regular compensation.

A non-controversial bill would require that physical examinations be given to applicants for state jobs.

DEAL WITH LEASES

Two bills deal with leasing of state property. One calls for a review of the leases of all state-owned property in Chattanooga, Tenn., not covered by the Western and Atlantic Railroad lease.

The other would require that all leases of state-owned property for more than one year be ratified by the Senate.

Another bill would simplify the procedure of advertising proposed amendments to the State Constitution, and another would permit the deputy comptroller general to sign warrants in the absence of the comptroller general.

Senators Wink, Okay Sales of Arrow-Hit Quail

You could sell any quail you can kill with a bow and arrow under a bill passed by the State Senate Wednesday.

The Senate was in the process of passing a bill to legalize the sale of pen-raised quail but still prohibit the sale of quail killed by hunters.

Sen. W. K. Dean of Young Harris was explaining the bill on the Senate floor when Sen. Charlie Dews of Calhoun interrupted.

"My question is," Dews said, "does it include the killing of quail with a bow and arrow?"

"It does not," replied Dean as the Senate rocked with laughter.

Webb Blames Light Penalties Here on Jury-Fixed Terms

Fixing of court sentences by a jury rather than a judge is the reason for "light" prison sentences in Georgia, Fulton Sol. Gen. Paul Webb declared Wednesday.

Webb made the statement in answer to comments by a 43-year-old ex-convict that he picked Atlanta for his recent robberies because "punishment is lighter here."

The ex-convict, Harry Latham of Calera, Ala., is under indictment on five counts of armed robbery for a series of supermarket holdups in which he was referred to as the "kiss-blowing" bandit.

PARTLY TRUE

"The statement made by Harry Latham is in part true, stemming in my opinion from the fact that in Georgia the jury fixes the punishment rather than the court," Webb said.

The solicitor pointed to several recent trials in Fulton courts in which persons charged with serious offenses such as robbery and assault with intent to murder were given light sentences by juries.

"It is sometimes discouraging to the officers and prosecutors when such light sentences are meted out," Webb added.

CITES DECREASE

Notwithstanding these sentences, the solicitor continued, "There has been a decrease in major crimes in Atlanta and Fulton for several years. We think this decrease would be much greater if a way could be found to mete out the proper punishment in each case."

Several recent Fulton grand juries have called for legislation to place determination of sentences in the hands of judges.

Those Radiator Foxtails Would Be Paulding Countians' Car Tag Fees

Paulding County residents could pay for their automobile license tags with animal skins and tails under a resolution hilariously adopted by the Georgia Senate Wednesday.

Sen. B. M. Jones of Dallas, an old trapper himself, introduced the privileged resolution. It said that since the automobile license tax was doubled last year, the residents of his county find it difficult to raise cash, "either American or Confederate," to pay for the tags.

The resolution asked that the county tax commissioner, Dooly Watts, be authorized to accept, in lieu of cash, "coon skins, fox skins, squirrel, rabbit and defumigated skunk skins and divers skins, tails and pelts."

Bill Would Save Historic Church

Preservation of the historic Buck Head Baptist Church was sought in a bill introduced Wednesday by Sen. Walter Harrison.

Founded in 1787, the Burke County church was the second Baptist church founded in Georgia, Harrison said.

It was the site of the Baptist convention which established a theological school which later became Mercer University.

Harrison's bill would make the Executive Committee of the Hephzibah Baptist Assn. trustees of the property.

House Panel Okays Ban On State Jobs for Solons

A bill preventing Georgia legislators from hiring out to state agencies between sessions was approved Wednesday by the House Committee on Privileges and Elections.

The measure, sponsored by Rep. George Jackson of Jones, is designed to close a loophole through which lawmakers have been receiving pay from both the legislative and executive branches of government.

On another legislative front, House unanimously passed a bill to deter the release from prison of sex criminals who might endanger the public. It would set up an advisory board of psychiatrists to examine persons convicted of sex crimes. Examination would be made at the request of the Parole Board.

GOES TO SENATE

Rep. Robert Scoggin of Floyd said the board could refuse a parole to a prisoner judged incapable of rehabilitation. Solicitors-general could seek lunacy warrants for those prisoners whose terms are expiring. The bill now goes to the Senate.

The segregation bills, passed unanimously by the Senate, were in the House State of Republic Committee Wednesday. The committee didn't meet. Rep. John Sheffield of Brooks introduced a resolution to permit the governor to name two legislators to confer with other states on segregation. The Senate passed a bill restricting the right of health, accident and hospitalization insurance companies to cancel policies. One provision would require a company to return to the policyholder 75 per cent of what he has paid, less benefits received, if a policy is canceled. The bill goes to the House.

OTHERS APPROVED

Other Senate-passed bills, sent to the House, would:

Authorize the commissioner of agriculture to prevent sale of culls on state farm markets; authorize commercial sale of pen-raised quail; permit interstate shipments through Georgia of hog cholera virus, and make more lenient the penalty for feeding commercial garbage to livestock.

The Senate Rules Committee killed a resolution by Sen. Arnold Parker of Milledgeville to investigate the Milledgeville State Hospital dental clinic. It did so after State Welfare Director Alan Kemper said the resolution stemmed from the discharge of a dental clinic employee, who could have appealed the dismissal to the Merit Board.

FAVORS COTTON BOOST

The committee wouldn't go along with the House on a resolution asking Congress to recall "Point Four" agricultural technicians from abroad. It did approve the part of the House resolution asking an increase in cotton acreage allotments for the South.

The committee favored passage of a resolution approving Gov. Griffin's executive order of last year suspending collection of a three per cent tax on all small loan company charges except interest.

The Senate Committee on Labor and Industry approved a bill to prohibit corporations in the future from obtaining more than 15 per cent of the stock of any bank. The bill's sponsors said the bill would discourage big banks from buying up little ones.

SENT TO SUBCOMMITTEE

A workmen's compensation bill, sponsored by an interim legislative panel, was sent to a subcommittee. It would prohibit an employee from receiving compensation if, prior to an accident, he refused to submit to a reasonable preemployment or periodic physical examination.

A public hearing will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the Senate on a bill to require compulsory automobile insurance coverage.

The House passed a bill which would allow state employees not to give information about relatives in filling out loyalty oaths. Another House-passed bill would require a hearing within 72 hours of any person arrested. Both bills go to the Senate.

The House postponed indefinitely a bill offered by Rep. Carl

Typhoid Case At Savannah

SAVANNAH, Jan. 18 (AP)—Savannah's first case of typhoid fever in about three years was reported Wednesday by Dr. Walter Otto, assistant health commissioner.

Otto said the patient was a 21-year-old Negro woman. He said the health department had "examined all contacts" but was unable to find the source of the malady.

Probation Bill Waits Judges' Views

A House-approved bill to create a statewide probation system was held up by the State Senate's judiciary committee Wednesday until Superior Court judges can be heard from.

The delay came on motion of Sen. Howell Hollis of Columbus, who said the judges want the power to appoint probation agents.

As passed by the House, the bill would give the State Pardon and Parole Board power to hire the probation agents.

Appearing before the committee, Rep. Jack Tarpley of Union said an amendment giving judges the appointing powers was defeated in the House.

Tarpley was joined by State Pardon and Parole Board Chairman Hugh Carney in arguing that the board and not the judges should name the probation agents.

Appointment by the judges would put the probation agents in politics at the local level, Tarpley said.

Carney said it would not make a uniform statewide system if judges named the probation agents in 36 different judicial Superior Court circuits. If agents were appointed by the state board, he said, judges would feel free to follow or reject recommendations of the probation officers.

Senators W. K. Dean of Young Harris and Charlie Dews of Calhoun supported Tarpley and Carney, and Dews said he believed it would work a hardship on the judges themselves to make appointments.

In urging approval of the bill, Carney said a statewide probation system would save the state $2,000,000 annually by reducing prison costs. He estimated 4,000 persons a year could be placed on probation instead of being sent to prison.

Garrard Signs Argo Bonus Pact

By DAN KITCHENS

ATHENS, Jan. 18—Bobby Garrard, Georgia Bulldogs' 1955 football captain and leading ground gainer for the past two years, said Wednesday he planned to cast his professional future with the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian League.

Toronto Assistant Coach Bill Early, a former Notre Dame player, mailed the Georgia fullback a contract calling for a $9,000 first-year salary, and a $1,500 bonus.

Garrard said that he was mailing the signed contract back Wednesday night. He had previously declined a offer from the Baltimore Colts. Presumably, the offer from North of the border that included the handsome bonus was enough to help Garrard make his decision before completion of the National Football League draft, where he was picked by Detroit in the 23d round.

One of the most versatile and popular captains the Bulldogs ever had, the O'Keefe of Atlanta product has his greatest year at Georgia this past season and capped it off with a sterling performance in the North-South Shrine game at Miami Dec. 26. In the North-South game, won by the Southerners, 20-7, the stocky Atlantan was the leading ground gainer. In addition, he scored one touchdown, kicked two out of three extra points, and set up another touchdown by a pass reception on the North 10-yard-line.

In his four years at Georgia, Garrard lettered four times, starting out as a freshman safety. As a sophomore, he switched to left half and finished up his junior and senior year at fullback. He also did Georgia's punting.

Garrard, Brooks Drafted by NFL

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 18 (AP)—Georgia fullback Bobby Garrard and Georgia Tech guard, Franklin Brooks were drafted by National Football League teams today when the pro league concluded its last 10 rounds of selections.

Garrard was drafted in the 23rd round by the Detroit Lions while Brooks, an all-Southeastern Conference selection, was tabbed in the 25th go-round by the Washington Redskins. Both are Atlanta boys and played together at O'Keefe High School.

Garrard was the only Georgia player to be picked by the pros. Only other Georgia Tech gridders to be selected was fullback Dickie Mattison of Charlotte, N.C., who was picked in the 20th round by the Chicago Cardinals despite the fact that he has a year of college eligibility remaining and is not a "five-year" man.

In Atlanta, Brooks said he had not been contacted by the Redskins. Considered light for a professional prospect, Brooks weighs 200 pounds now. "I'd like to try it if I can gain some weight," he said, "I'd like to see if I could do it."

In other selections today: Detroit took Clemson tackle Dick Marazza and Tulane guard Bryan Burnthorne.

Pittsburgh picked Clemson fullback Billy O'Dell of Newnan, Ga., and Alabama tackle Wes Thompson.

Chicago Cardinals grabbed tackle Bill Wheeler of Kentucky. Philadelphia plucked Alabama tackle Alvin Ellett.

Baltimore snatched Mississippi State halfback Jim Harness, Kentucky end Bradley Mills and Tennessee and Middle Tennessee State halfback Terry Sweeney.

Green Bay fingered Furman back John Popson, Mississippi tackle Dick Goehs and Florida quarterback Bobby Lance.

New York labelled Mississippi fullback Bob (Slick) McCool, now in the Army but with eligibility remaining, and Florida quarterback Harry Speers.

Chicago Bears stamped Vanderbilt quarterback Don Orr, who has a year to go; another Vanderbilt quarterback, Bill Krietemeyer, out of school for two years; and tackle James Backler of Southern Illinois and Alabama.

Washington posted Kentucky end Howard Schnellenberger and Jacksonville (Ala.) State halfback Billy Hicks.

Cleveland selected End John Bajos of Northwestern and Vanderbilt.

First three rounds of the pro draft were picked in November and the next 17 were run off Tuesday night.

Stanton's Victory Closes on Cross Smoke in Continental

By BILL ALLEN

Constitution Sports Writer

QUITMAN, Jan. 18—Tension mounted Wednesday in this Continental Birdog Championship as the defending titlist, Stanton's Victory, nudged close to Tuesday's high dog, another female pointer named Cross Smoke.

Vickie, owned by C. L. Mueller and handled by John Gates, Leesburg, Ga., had three spectacular covey finds in the last brace of running. She ran well in front and sensibly and had the gallery guessing that she might be favored by judges Rowan Greer and Dr. Earl Miles.

Best bird hunting race of the day was by Q's Delivery Doon, owned by H. Q. Jones and handled by Fred Arant of Barnwell, S. C. "Cue," however, had his birds flushed wild before him before Arant could reach him and then ran too wide if anything in a vain search for more game.

Pressing for Wednesday honors was W. C. Jones' Home Again Mike, handled by Paul Walker from three quarters of a mile to a mile in front at times as if he were on a long leash. No pointer male ever handled better for two hours and few dogs here have done more genuine bird hunting where game was supposed to be. Mike pointed to two coveys loftily and with bristling neckhair. But Walker was unable to show game on a third point.

Tyrolean, owned by Charles C. Jones, handled by Eddie Mack Farrior, had one clean find, a stop to flush and one unproductive point amid a good race. Luminary Mary's Lady, owned by this championship trial hostess Mrs. G. M. Livingstone, was the second highly touted home course dog to have a fine race without spotting game at all.

General opinion was that Cross Smoke and Stanton's Victory were high in the judges' esteem along with Mike despite his unproductive point.

Hammock Extends Pruitt;
Strumke Strafes Felton

MARIETTA, Jan. 18—The process of separating the homesteaders from the transit began Wednesday night in the annual Georgia State Golden Gloves championships here, but at the first two of the ex-elite found themselves moving on at the insistence of comparative strangers.

Middleweight T. F. Hill of Cartersville, defending his novice crown, and lightweight Dewey Conner of the Atlanta Boys' Club, open welter king in '55, were the victims of first-night eliminations.

Otherwise the swing-and-slug carnival ran according to the form sheets, although another of the upper class, South Fulton's Ken Pruitt, was extended to the very limit by 16-year-old Robert Hammock of Columbus.

A match of wide interest saw Georgia freshman football star Bill Strumke finish in a rash of damaging uppercuts to gain a unanimous decision over Griffin's Bobby Felton in the novice heavyweight division. Strumke decked Felton twice in a torrid third-round to gain the nod from the judges.

Hill dropped a heartbreaker to pugnacious Donald Norman of Rome, a boy who refused to yield to a punishing first round, when he was floored twice and staggered many more times. Norman came back to work over Hill in a reversal of form in the second, cutting up the '55 champ pretty badly. Bleeding profusely from the nose, Hill was not allowed to come out for the third and final round.

Pruitt had his gloves full in Hammock, a fighter the Atlanta calls "better" than Charles Harbour, his conqueror at LaGrange recently. The 19-year-old Pruitt was off his timing, missing many of his favorite shots.

Strong and clever, Harbour pounded out a close win over Conner.

Sutherland Succeeds Kircher As Washington State Head Coach

Compiled From Wire Reports

Jim Sutherland, who was fired as University of Washington assistant during a player revolt, last November, was named head football coach of Washington State College.

Sutherland succeeds Al Kircher, who was let out after a 1-8-1 season. Terms of the contract were not disclosed. Kircher had a year to go on a five-year $12,500 contract.

MORE FOOTBALL: Jim Tatum

who recently switched from Maryland head coach and athletic director to head coach at University of North Carolina, announced at Chapel Hill the signing of Emmett Cheek and Ed Kensler as Tar Heel aides.

Both were assistants under him at Maryland. . . . Bill Jennings, an assistant at Oklahoma U. for seven years, has been named backfield coach at Nebraska. Jennings quit OU in '53 to enter the oil business. . . . The Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Canadian Big Four Football Union announced that Vince Gonzales of Louisiana State, 20th draft choice of the National Football League's Washington Redskins, had agreed to terms.

BASEBALL: Brooklyn's World Series hero, pitcher Johnny Podres, who recently was reclassified I-A in the military draft, signed his '56 Dodge contract for a reported $15,000. . . . Veteran Elmo Valo, and rookies Cletus Boyer, a bonus baby infielder, and Allan Romberger, a pitcher, signed their contracts with Kansas City Athletics. . . . Cleveland Indians also received three signed pacts from catcher Hank Folles, outfielder Stu Locklin and infielder Kenneth Kuhn. Kuhn is an 18-year-old bonus rookie. . . . Meanwhile at Chicago, the White Sox announced second baseman Nellie Fox and outfielder Bob Nieman signed for "substantial salary increases." . . . Pitchers Lino Donoso and Nelson King joined the Pittsburgh fold Wednesday. Frank Sullivan, 18-game winner last year, became the first 1956 signee with Boston Red Sox. Sox general manager Joe Cronin said the club had offered pay increases to "99 per cent" of members of last year's team. Don Johnson, 29-year-old right-handed pitcher, was sold by Baltimore Orioles to Toronto Maple Leafs of International League.

GOLF: The Ladies' Professional Golfers' Association has established an annual trophy for high points in tournament play in honor of Babe Zaharias. This "Babe Zaharias Golfer of the Year Trophy" will be awarded according to performance rating, taking into account both the player's finish and number of tournaments played in. . . . Mrs. Zaharias was also to be honored in New York by the Sports Lodge of B'nai B'rith along with swimmer Shelley Mann. The awards are for "high principle and achievement in sports." . . .

Jack O'Shea Dies At Tampa Meet

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Jan. 18 (AP)—John J. (Jack) O'Shea, 42, of Atlanta, Ga., president of the Thistle Class Assn., died today of a heart attack while preparing for the National Midwinter Thistle Regatta starting tomorrow. O'Shea, who apparently was in good health, was struck by a heart attack following today's practice races in Tampa Bay. His wife, Winifred, was with him at the time. Survivors include his widow; a son, Ward; a daughter, Christine, and his mother, all of Atlanta, where the body will be sent for funeral services and burial.

Love Uhl, But Oh, Hopfensperger! Double Pivot Pays Big For 'Cats

By LARRY FOX

It's time for the newspaperman's all-America, those long boys with the short names that fit well in headlines. Captain is one of the tallest men in basketball with the short name, seven-foot Bill Uhl of Dayton.

Others are Jim Ray of Toledo, Tim Hill, of Siena, George Linn of Alabama and Jim Zinn of Florida. This team can go, too. According to NCAB statistics, Hill is averaging 24.3 a game, Linn 23.4, and Ray 22.7. Zinn is 10th in the nation in rebounds, Uhl 18th and Hill 20th. The nightmare team is captained by Gerry Hopfensperger of Marquette with Ron Sobieszczyk of DePaul, the alternate. Others are Howie Crittenden of Murray State, Lenny Rosenbluth of North Carolina and Marty Tennenbaum of Bucknell.

In four games since switching to the double pivot offense, Kentucky has been averaging 92.25 points a night. Jerry Bird and Bob Burrow make it go right well despite the fact that Adolph Rupp had scored the offensive variation for 25 years.

That Fred Fraley, Furman's "other" scorer, almost ended up in a Georgia Tech jersey instead of firing against the Jackets in Greenville Wednesday night. Fraley, a senior from Wayland, Ky., spent a quarter at the Flats before being declared ineligible for SEC competition. Seems he had signed a football grant at Kentucky, then retired to prep school for a year and Tech thought he would be fair game for any other SEC school then. Incidentally, Furman's sixth man, 6-6 junior Jimmie Herring, played under current Tech freshman coach Jim Nolan at Moultrie High. . . . Georgia freshman basketball prospect Billy Smothers of Geraldine, Ala. has decided to enter the ministry and transferred his studies to Howard University between quarters. . . . Tennessee has started winning again now that sophomore guard Leon Ammerman has rejoined the squad. Vols have won two straight since he returned, lost three out of four while he was absent from the campus.

GEOGRAPHY LESSON—Talk about Miami's far-flung football recruiting, take a look at the Hurricanes' swimming roster. Of seven men, only one is from Coral Gables, home of the university. Others are from Columbia, Brazil, Connecticut, California and two from New York. And Davidson has a freshman center from Juneau, Alaska, named Dave Hollingsworth.

TORONTO COACH Bill Swick made a pitch for Charley Trippi at the recent Senior Bowl. Wanted the former Georgia great as a coaching aide if Trippi ever decided to leave his new assistant's job with the Cardinals. . . . Wilbur Huttsel, popular Auburn track coach, was named committeeman for track and field rules by the NCAA at its recent meeting.

... End Nick Germanos was named MVP by his University of Alabama grid mates. . . . North Carolina State is not seeking the easy way out in its football rebuilding. The Wolf-pack beat only four teams this past season, and none of the four—Villanova, Furman, Boston U. and William and Mary—has been retained on the 1956 schedule. . . . Alan Kaufman of Atlanta performing at guard for the LSU freshman basketball team. . . . Thomas House of Decatur is a member of the new Air Force Academy gymnastics team.

Tulane is going through the SEC basketball wars with a junior-sized varsity basketball squad as a result of various forms of mid-year attrition. In a recent game at Florida, with center John Mallory called home because of the serious illness of his father, the Greenies had only two subs and one of the steadfast seven, Tom Murphy, fouled out during the evening. . . . They say Hal Lear, Temple's all-America prospect who stands only 5-11, has been known to "dunk" a basketball just like Frisco's Bill Russell. Lear was the last big hero at Philadelphia's Overbrook High School before Wilt (The Stilt) Chamberlain came along.

Bulldogs Get Bishop Back

The Georgia backfield will be in for a boost next fall with the return from service of Al Bishop, who can be expected to make a good showing in any of three positions.

Bishop, who starred as a freshman and in his first sophomore spring practice, has informed Georgia coaches that he definitely intends to return to school in time for next season although he does not know the exact date. Bishop was a high school tailback at Cheshire Academy in his native New England and played fullback as a freshman at Georgia. During the spring he was shifted to quarterback and was the star of the G-Day game two years ago. Coach Wally Butts of Georgia said Wednesday he was counting on the Springfield, Mass., product in his 1956 backfield plans although still undecided about which position he would fill.

ATLANTA BOWLS

Tech Frats Organize Four Duckpin Loops

By MORT PERSKY

Georgia Tech's fraternities have organized a duckpin competition that Lucky Strike's Jack Pearce is willing to wager is biggest of its kind in the world.

The four leagues, which swung into action last Friday, put 24 teams into the fray. Their plan is to pit the league champions against each other at season's end and get an overall winner.

MORE DUCKPINS: "A duckpin town." That's how Women's International Bowling Congress District Secretary Louise Lahan described Atlanta, regretfully but hopefully, during her chats with the Georgia chapter assembled for dinner and consultations here Saturday night. . . . Mrs. Lahan would be encouraged to hear not a single 400 set was bowled Monday night, but disappointed to know it probably was because Lucky Strikers are so busy getting ready to war over a trip to New Haven, Conn., for two. Fourteen paid $15 to sign for the battle, which begins Saturday, and at least two more should join in before the firing starts. Then there'll be the battle at New Haven for a national prize. . . . League of the Week: The YWCA League, an oldie where Ruby Thompson and Lois Holcombe set this week's pace, Ruby with a 118 game, Lois with a 315 set.

WORD FROM THE WISE: Buddy Bomar's official mission is boosting duckpins, his private one is trying to set southpaw bowlers on the straight and narrow. In his youth, Bomar, too, was a southpaw, but a mishap involving three of his fingers and a cornshredder forced him to switch to rightie bowling. Ever since, he's wanted other left-handed bowlers to take advantage of what he learned: right-handers wear an invisible path with their rolls and benefits from it. The only way left-handers can benefit, Bomar points out, is to become right-handers, too. The celebrated bowler didn't have time to spread his gospel in his WSB-TV interview with Ray Moore last week, but he did have time to tell Ray, to whom we're indebted.

LADIES TENPINS: Lucy Deems has a 519 series and 222 game to lead the week's Lockhead bowling. . . . A pair of 177s, by Chris Cook and Sue Richard, led the way among the Keglerettes at the Palace Monday, but their big excitement dates back to Friday. In the closest tie-breaker anybody can remember, Margaret Engelhardt pushed her Arrow Distribution team ahead of Rich's when Virginia Harper failed to post a spare in the final frame. Monday came the anticlimax: the league was all tied up again.

Marietta's Crook Slips, But Holds Lead in 4-AA

Godfrey, Burnham Threaten In Region Cage Scoring Battle

By MICKEY LOGUE

Jerry Crook's point average and Marietta's record nose-dived as one last week, but the 6-5 center managed to retain his Region 4-AA scoring leadership.

Though Crook shot his six-game total to 136, his per-outing average dipped two points to 22.7, and Marietta received a pair of losses to go with its four league basketball victories.

Meanwhile Dalton's Harlan Godfrey and Cedartown's Bill Burnham hit their basket-making stride for the first time this season, placing Crook's lead in jeopardy.

Godfrey, who poured through 47 points in two appearances, including 28 against the Mariettans, boosted his four-game total to 84, and per-game mark to 21.0, threatening Crook's average.

Godfrey's firing and that of 6-7 teammate Starr Ralston (10.5 per) pushed Dalton into a deadlock with Russell atop the region. Both are unbeaten after four loop scraps.

Burnham, a late starter who's strong down the stretch, caused the only shakeup among the top five shooters. He ran his points to 124, vaulting Rome's Bud Beard into third spot. Burnham upped his average from 17.1 to 20.7 in the process.

Beard's steady 16 rate earned him fourth position, and Russell's

Harold McDonald got the fifth place nod with 61 points, 15.2 per. Rome's Kenneth Bryant made the most spectacular gain of the week, leaping from outside the first 12 to a comfortable seventh on his 13.7 point per game shooting. Decatur's Don Keiser owns sixth with a 58 total.

Bogie Becomes Birdie As Four Iron Clicks

By Bert Prather

Mrs. Ed Broadbear has found the perfect way to correct a dubbed shot.

Playing in the North Fulton Women's Golf Assn. play day Wednesday afternoon at North Fulton course, Mrs. Broadbear missed her second shot on the par four ninth. Instead of throwing the unruly club, she calmly placed it back in the bag and pulled out a four iron.

Taking careful aim at the flag, Mrs. Broadbear sent the ball flying straight for the cup. So, instead of bogie or more she came up with a birdie three.

Mrs. Broadbear, who is publicity chairman for the NF ladies, was too modest to report the feat, but pro Bill Hall was there to give us a first hand account of the shot. Mrs. Broadbear is also a member of East Lake Women's Golf Association.

CHIP SHOTS: Forrest Fowler, the old Missouri footballer, is shooting some of the best golf of his career. Lowered his handicap to four at Capital City. . . . East Lake's Charles Harrison, who will defend his Southern Amateur championship at Druid Hills Golf Club in June, is bothered by a lame left shoulder which he injured last fall. Charles hasn't played a full 18 since last September. . . . Tommy Barnes finished with five straight birdies on East Lake No. 2 Sunday for a six-under-par 66, but the best his foursome could do was place second in the dogfight. Tom Bothwell, Bowie Adams and John Loneragan teamed with him to post a plus seven. First place team, with plus 12, was composed of Jack Lyle, Millard Davis, Bill Street and Charlie Elliott.

Skeeter Newsome, new manager of Columbus' entry in the South Atlantic Baseball League, is quite a golfer. In a recent round with Paul Richards, Baltimore Oriole pilot, and former state champion Bill Zimmerman, Skeeter toured Columbus Country Club in one-over-par 73. Richards had a 75, but on a second try posted a 71. . . . Mrs. W. J. Wilbanks of Decatur, low Georgia amateur in the recent Sea Island Women's Invitational, should be a top threat in the Women's State, scheduled for East Lake in late June. She is the daughter of Pug Allen, old Georgia Tech football star.

North Fulton will be host to next Atlanta PGA pro-am on Friday, Feb. 3. All wishing to compete should contact Bill Hall at North Fulton golf shop. . . . Gene Thorpe, who has been sidelined for a week with the flu, shot a 75 at Druid Hills Wednesday, one of his better rounds. . . . E. J. Hauser, Cliff Ansley, Dr. M. D. (Skipper) Huff shared Druid Hills bogey honors with 77. Buck Sechler, Jack Martin, E. C. Walker and J. A. Bain tied for second with 76s. . . . Irene West of the Women's Western Golf Association, has invited Mary Ann Reynolds of Albany, to play in the WPGA Amateur and Open tournaments this summer. Mary Ann was runner-up to Mary Crawford of Americus in last year's Georgia State and winner of the State medal play tourney.

Georgia Swimmers Trounce Tech, 58-26

Arnold, Stolz and Dumbroff Sparkle for Defending Champs

Special to The Constitution

ATHENS, Jan. 18—Three Atlanta seniors, Val Arnold, Hal Stolz and Dutch Dumbroff, led the Georgia swimming team to a 58-26 victory over their home-town rival, Georgia Tech, at Stegeman pool Wednesday night.

It was Georgia's seventh dual meet victory in a row over Tech.

Arnold and Stolz took two first places again. In addition, Stolz swam a leg on the winning medley relay team.

Probably the most thrilling race of the meet was the 440-yard freestyle in which Dumbroff came from behind to edge Tech's Frank Reeves by a fingernail.

In all, the Bulldogs, defending SEC champions, gathered eight of 10 first places. Both teams were without the services of standout performers, Bob Browne of Tech scholastically ineligible and Happy Hill, Georgia's ace diver from Augusta, out indefinitely because of illness.

Georgia's dual meet record is now 2-2.

Tech Gym Team Meets Springfield

Georgia Tech's gymnastics team leaves Thursday morning to open its 1956 season with dual meets at Springfield Friday and West Point Saturday. It is Tech's first visit to Springfield, which has just resumed competition in the sport, and third straight to Army.

The nine-man team of Coach Lyle Welser is made up of Capt. Perry Peck, Leonard Caveny, Shelby Barre, Charley Hays, Eddie Johnson, Jonathan Parker, Bo Stokes, Jimmy Weeks and Ted Duhig.

Athens Quintet Trips Newnan

ATHENS, Jan. 18—Athens High held back a determined Newnan five in the final three minutes of play to win, 69-61, Wednesday night. The Athens girls won the first game, 42-28. The win gave the Bulldogs a 10-2 record.

Jackets May Open With 'Cats Under Lights

Georgia Tech's opening football game of the 1956 season against Kentucky in Lexington may be a night affair, the Wildcats announced Wednesday.

Kentucky revealed it planned to play Auburn Oct. 13 and Louisiana State Oct. 20 under the arcs and was considering a similar arrangement for the Tech game Sept. 22. No final decision on the Tech game has been made, however.

Newlyweds Are Indicted
In Kidnap-Holdup Case

A young Binghamton, N.Y., couple, whose brief honeymoon ended in jail, was indicted Wednesday by a grand jury at Savannah on charges of attempted robbery, attempted kidnaping and pointing a pistol at three persons.

Paul James Christian, 20, and his wife, Claire, 18, have been in jail since Jan. 3. They were locked up 24 hours after they were married in Charleston, S.C. The couple arrived in Savannah by bus from Charleston on Jan. 3. They said they were en route to St. Augustine, Fla., and their funds had run low. They said they left Binghamton with $300.

The indictments accuse them of attempting to hold up a storekeeper and later a couple who sat in a parked car outside a night club.

They are also accused of attempting to kidnap the couple,

Mrs. Christian Paul Christian

Mrs. Bessie Surles and Luther Martin, in order to obtain transportation back to Charleston.

Christian's wife, described as an honor graduate of her high school and a Sunday School teacher, told a reporter they ran away to get married because her husband was on parole from reform school and could not get official permission.

Manslaughter Term

Jerry Cawthon, charged with murder in the fatal shooting Nov. 6, 1954, of Bill Kelley, Cawthon's scoutmaster, was convicted Wednesday of involuntary manslaughter by a Franklin County Superior Court jury, which also recommended a sentence of from four to five years. Kelley died of a .22 rifle bullet in the heart, which struck him while he was hunting on an estate adjoining Cawthon's home farm. . . . Seven Germany army officers, the first to attend the Infantry School, have begun 17 weeks of training at Ft. Benning in preparation for their role in molding West Germany's new army. . . . Jim Cox, 77, died Wednesday in a grass fire that destroyed a number of small buildings on the farm of his sister, Mrs. Emilie Cox Hill. The farm is about seven miles east of Lula. . . . Savannah's first case of typhoid fever in about three years was reported Wednesday. The patient was identified as a 21-year-old Negro woman.

Gordon Sheriff Runoff

Hugh Praeger and Hughdon Davis, candidates for sheriff in Gordon County's Democratic primary Tuesday, will face each other in a runoff election sometime in February. In other contested races Tuesday, John Slagle was elected commissioner of roads and revenues, and Pet Bentley was named ordinary. . . . A federal court attempt to convict Wilbur Horne, 34, former vacuum cleaner salesman, of the $2,572 robbery of the Bank of Dudley, ended in a mistrial Wednesday after a jury failed to reach a decision after 19 hours. . . . John Ed Mask, Plains FFA member and Jan Mize, Americus 4-H member, showed the grand champion and reserve champion, respectively, at the annual junior fat calf show and sale held in Americus Wednesday. . . . Trial of M. C. Horton, one of four Brunswick men indicted on charges of embezzlement—allegedly to influence a jury—went to the jury Wednesday with a demand by Sol. Gen. Glenn Thomas for a conviction "to uphold the integrity of the jury system." . . . The Savannah Chamber of Commerce has asked Gov. Griffin to appoint a committee to investigate "the unhappy situation that exists in . . . milk production, distribution and consumption in Georgia."

Black and White, 'Panthers' Asked
As Colors, Nickname for Ga. State

A resolution asking that black and white be adopted as official colors for Georgia State College of Business Administration and "Panthers" as sports nickname will be presented to the student body for approval.

Action followed a Wednesday night meeting of the Night School student council.

Night School president Bill Capes said the resolution will seek approval of the Day School student council next Wednesday.

Fuller Asks Jenkins for Breakdown of Police Bill to Fulton

Fulton County Manager A. E. 1952.

Fuller has asked Atlanta Police Chief Jenkins immediately to furnish the county with a breakdown on costs of police protection for the county's unincorporated areas.

Fuller made the request in reply to a letter from Jenkins in which the chief said the county owes the City of Atlanta $14,830.48 on protection provided back to

The county manager replied that he did not feel the county, under its contract with the city for police protection, could pay additional expenses for protection during prior years.

Fuller said, however, that the county commissioners, scheduled to meet Monday to discuss the 1956 budget, might consider increasing the 1956 appropriation from the present level to $131,718. The manager suggested that the chief supply him with a breakdown of the number of positions, salary rates, equipment costs and other expenses required for the policing of the county areas by the city.

Principles Underlying Confession

QUESTION: Is it necessary to confess sins to a minister or congregation? Is it sufficient to confess such sins to God alone?

—M. M. A.
ANSWER: The underlying principle of confession of sin is that where the sin be between you and God alone, you confess it to Him alone. But, if your sin has involved other people you should confess it to them, and ask forgiveness. Our Lord puts this principle in these words: "Therefore if thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee; leave there thy gift before the altar, and go thy way; first to be reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer a gift."

On the other hand, if you confess sins to people about which they knew nothing, you may do more harm than good. I know of many revivals in local churches which have come after Christians who had been at odds, one with the other, got together and confessed their sins and faults to each other. Confession of sin must be accompanied by a determination to, by God's grace, forsake that sin.

Tifton Bride Given Away By Bing Crosby

TIFTON, Jan. 18—A Tifton girl, Miss Mary L. Henderson of Los Angeles, was given in marriage by Bing Crosby who also sang "I Love You Truly," when she became the bride of William S. Morrow, a Los Angeles script writer and producer.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Julius C. Bradshaw of Tifton.

After the ceremony Mr. Crosby entertained members of the wedding party and guests at dinner at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Morrow leave this month for Paris, going later on a 30-day safari in Africa. They will reside in Los Angeles.

Club Completes Plaza Project

Beautification of the Avondale Plaza has just been completed by members of the Avondale Estates Garden Club and plans are under way for similar work around the community.

With these two projects of top interest among the club members, the talk on "Landscaping and the Best Use of Various Shrubs" by Nelson Crist will be of special interest when the club meets Friday at 10:30 a.m. at the Community Club.

Mrs. Gordon Johnson will preside at the meeting, which will be followed by a luncheon. Mrs. John H. Painter, Garden Center chairman, has received notice that the club has been awarded the first prize in horticulture for the September, October and November period.

Shirley Clements Relaxes at Tech Girls' Dorm

Tech Co-eds at Home In Their 'Exit House'

By BETTY CARROLLTON

The most fascinating equipment at the girls' dormitory at Georgia Tech assures the feminine Ramblin' Wrecks a way out if things get too hot.

Already it has seen plenty of use—but only for the girls' entertainment.

The lift-step fire escape at the dorm is eased to the ground by the weight of the girls. The upstairs bedroom of Teresa Thomas opens out onto the roof—and hence the fire escape.

Teresa and Harriette Wadsworth, another student at Tech, gleefully demonstrated the "how" of the fire escape.

"It gives us a sense of security," one of the girls explained, "besides the free ride."

The Tech girls' dorm looks much like any private home.

"That's the way we want it to look," pointed out Mrs. Sue Thomas, house mother to the eight coeds living there. "We want the girls to feel completely at home."

And, according to the girls, that's just what has been achieved.

Downstairs, the comfortable living room affords a pleasant place to relax or entertain guests.

HOUSE MOTHER

On the other side, the living room leads to Mrs. Thomas' quarters, furnished comfortably in modern style.

The twin beds, as those in the girls' rooms, are Hollywood style with ivory leatherette headboards. The beige rug matches that of the living room. Drapes are pink, yellow and green. The armchair is covered in matching material.

The only downstairs bedroom is occupied by Shirley Clements of Rochelle. A senior in electrical engineering, Shirley is president of Alpha Xi Delta, only sorority for Tech co-eds.

A large banner of the sorority is prominently displayed on the wall above the desk in Shirley's room.

Her "proudest possession" is a specially installed high fidelity record system.

"The other girls accuse me of rocking the whole house when the record player is on," Shirley said, "and I'm afraid I plead guilty."

BEDROOM SUITES MATCH

Bedroom suites in all the rooms match that in Mrs. Thomas' room.

The upstairs is devoted to bedrooms and bathrooms.

Teresa, a sophomore from Marietta, who is majoring in chemical engineering, has decked the walls of her room in typical college girl fashion. In addition to the usual pennants, Teresa's treasures include souvenirs of this year's Sugar Bowl game in New Orleans. Teresa is a member of the Tech band.

A "crying towel" on the wall walls the legends "I'm Tired," "I'm Broke," "It Always Rains on Sunday" and "I Shoulda Stood in Bed."

Next to it is displayed a motto: "The more I see of people, the better I like my dog."

("I don't really mean it," Teresa hastened to explain.)

One of the two double rooms upstairs is shared by Harriette Wadsworth of Columbus and Norma Parker of Leslie.

The twin beds are covered with matching green corduroy spreads. Gray scatter rugs are flecked with black and yellow.

Above each of the beds and above the white mantel are framed color photos of various types of aircraft. Several model airplanes command the place of honor on the mantel.

The planes belong to Harriette, a freshman majoring in aeronautical engineering. The flight atmosphere that prevails in the room has Norma's approval, however.

"Next year, we'll have whatever Norma wants," explained Harriette.

Celestine Sibley Voice Behind Singing Army

If it's true that you have to be a certain age to put the right feeling into singing an old song, the boys and girls at the Civitan Club the other day certainly gave themselves away.

You should have heard them singing "K-K-Katy!"

Geoffrey O'Hara, the man who wrote "K-K-Katy," the hit of World War I, came to town in the interest of barbershop quartet singing and the Grace Methodist Church. And he discussed some of his adventures in song writing and publishing at the Civitan's weekly meeting.

His talk was spiced with humor and bits of philosophy. Just before he sat down he returned to "K-K-Katy," which owed some of its worldwide popularity to the soldiers from Ft. Oglethorpe, Ga., where Mr. O'Hara served as song leader during World War I. They sang it masterfully and the newly born Pathe News photographed and recorded it to show Congress, which promptly stopped arguing and appropriated funds to train and send out 123 professional song leaders.

"That's why," Mr. O'Hara explained, "the soldiers of World War I were known as The Singing Army."

Just for fun, Mr. O'Hara sang a couple of parodies on his song: "K-K-Kaypee" and "K-K-Kooties." Then he said, "Let's all try the chorus together."

As I said, you should have heard them. They sang warmly and melodiously and enthusiastically the charming lyrics about the moon coming over the c-c-cowshed and the lovers' tryst by the k-k-kitchen door.

Born in Canada, Mr. O'Hara is a slender, white-haired gentleman who took to singing almost as soon as he could talk. He was singing in the church choir at the age of six, and shortly afterward served an eight-week hitch as church organist, although he could only play by ear. He went to New York with the Lou Dockstadter minstrel show.

"That proved to me that there's a divinity that shapes our ends, rough hew them as we may," the composer said. "I learned in New York that Lou Dockstadter always hired 20 people more than he needed . . . and I was one of the 20!"

But he was in New York and soon caught up in the cacophony of sound in that half block which was later to be dubbed Tin Pan Alley. And that was where he was happiest to be.

Enrico Caruso introduced and recorded his composition, "Your Eyes."

"The line we used on all the singers was the one I used on him. 'Got a little song . . . was thinking of you when I wrote it,'" Mr. O'Hara confessed. "But it happened to be true in his case. I did write it for Caruso. I always paid my 50 cents and stood up on the back row at the opera, and I did write that song with Caruso in mind."

But the song writer, who was an organizer of ASCAP and is now president of the Song Writers Assn. of America, says that, with the exception of Caruso, he nearly always has "little Jenny Wren of One Tooth, Iowa" in mind when he writes a song.

It has to be simple for young and struggling church and school pianists over the land to be able to play it and they're the ones who take it to the people. He got his training in that line back when the dime store sheet music counter could make or break a song.

"The little girl back of the counter was probably being paid $3 a week to play the piano—and I wanted to write something she could play and sell."

Whip Up Your Own Cosmetics

BY MARY GRAY ANDERSON

If you have an egg-beater and the do-it-yourself will you can concoct your own cosmetics at home and save money.

An Atlanta cosmetics firm has created a new instant cosmetics line. By adding water to a cream concentrate you get twice the original amount of cream.

Four creams are now available in this form. They are: Cleansing and beauty cream; all-purpose cream; super-rich night cream; and eye and neck cream.

HEAT, ADD WATER, WHIP

The new concentrate comes in 7½-ounce jars. It is scientifically prepared in an Atlanta laboratory by Dr. Karl J. Hamm, to make a rich, beauty-aiding cream simply by heating, adding hot water and whipping for about two minutes.

After adding the water to the concentrate you have 15 ounces of cream. And you are assured of freshness since you mix it yourself for immediate use.

There are simple directions for mixing your own cosmetics. The only implements you need are two small pans and an egg-beater. First, you put the jar of cream in hot water to soften the contents for easier removal.

Then, pour the cream into one of the small pans and heat until thoroughly melted. Do not boil. Next, fill the empty jar with water and heat it in the other pan until air bubbles appear on the bottom. Again avoid boiling. If you like a still softer texture fill the jar only half or three-fourths full of water for heating.

MONEY-SAVING ANGLE

Pour the hot water slowly into the cream while whipping with an egg-beater, the hand type or electric, for about two minutes.

Aside from the fact that you get fine quality cosmetics that are assured fresh, the money-saving angle of this new type of cosmetics is important. The savings is about half of the average price of similar cosmetics.

These do-it-yourself cosmetics are available in Atlanta. For shopping information call WA. 5650, Ext. 394, or send a self-addressed post card to the Women's Department, The Atlanta Constitution.

Mad Because Son's Coach Was Ousted, Woman Runs for Mayor in Recall Vote

By RUSS DALEY

JACKSON, Tenn., Jan. 18 (AP). Mrs. Harold Gaither got her dander up at the way her son's football coach was treated, so now she's a candidate for mayor in a recall election.

Mrs. Gaither, 40, pretty, and the "crusader type," was the driving force behind the signing of petitions for a recall vote.

She hadn't planned to be a candidate herself, but when prospective candidates began to drop out for various reasons she ended up heading the recall ticket.

Mrs. Gaither, a mother of three, will oppose Mayor George Smith in the Jan. 23 balloting.

Running with Mrs. Gaither are Mrs. Jewel Turner, 49, a nurse and teacher, and Ronald Wells, 29, a machine operator.

They seek to oust Smith, a veteran of politics here, and Commissioners Ben Langford and Willie Voss.

CIVIC AFFAIRS

Blond Mrs. Gaither always has been interested in civic affairs and was an unsuccessful candidate for the State Legislature several years ago.

But she really got riled when long-time high school coach Tur-oman was removed as coach and demoted.

Mrs. Gaither's oldest son, Harold, 17, is a star athlete at Jackson High and Oman was his coach.

Oman had been a popular coach for 25 years and protest meetings were held, seeking his reinstatement.

Suddenly Mrs. Gaither found herself spokesman for a group aiming at a recall election.

Mrs. Turner was switched from coordinator of health for Jackson schools to seventh-grade teacher. That got her into the movement.

Wells, the quiet type and an excellent athlete, joined the movement because he thought Oman "got a raw deal."

Mrs. Gaither and her group charge that the officials have not carried on the city's business in "an official manner" and that they are not cooperating with the citizens.

PUBLIC BUSINESS

"City business is carried on behind closed doors and voted on months later," Mrs. Gaither said. "That's our money they are spending at City Hall. It's public business."

Smith, Langford and Voss have had little to say about the recall movement but they say they are "not worried."

The "bad publicity" might hinder the search for new industries, Smith said.

The present officials just took office last summer and the vote next week will be Langford's fourth race in less than seven months.

It took a primary, a runoff and a general election to get him into office.

There's never been a recall election here, so veteran observers aren't quite sure just how the protest will stack up at the polls.

But it's almost made politics a year-round affair in this city.

Breath of Spring Navy Blue Wool

Somehow or other, nothing ever seems so right at this time of year as a new navy blue wool dress! It looks fresh under a winter coat, it's an early breath of spring and, of course, it's universally becoming to everyone.

The smartest are slim—in either the princess or the Empire silhouette. For strictly daytime wear, a crisp little white collar is young and beguiling.

But if you want an all-purpose dress choose one with a lowish neck and a low-standing portrait collar that you may wear for late day as well.

Jr. Mrs. Mott Martin, Mrs. Milton Scott, Mrs. Carl Jones, Miss Marion Bucher and Miss Emily Winn.

Miss Sarah Fulton will preside.

Foreign Students At Scott to Tell War Experiences

Two foreign students enrolled at Agnes Scott will discuss their experiences in wartime at the meeting of the Decatur Agnes Scott Club Monday, Jan. 23, at 3:30 p.m., at the Anna Young Alumnae House on S. Candler street.

The two girls, Helen Saltiti from Jordan, and Choon-Hi Choi from South Korea, will discuss "Encounter With Revolution."

Mrs. H. Clay Lewis, vice president in charge of programs, will present the program, which will be given by the Agnes Scott students.

Other students taking part in the program are Nancy Grayson, Martha Jane Morgan and Marian McCall.

Reports from officers and committee chairmen will be given.

Hostesses for the meeting will include Mrs. Hansford Sams Sr., Mrs. Hansford Sams

Annie Lou Hardy Prezzolinis to Visit Dulaney in April

News from across the Atlantic concerns a former Atlantan and her importer-exporter husband, Mr. and Mrs. Giuliano Prezzolini of Florence, Italy.

The pair is in Athens, Greece, at the moment, having flown there from Rome with American visitors. However, their next trip will be to this country.

Mr. and Mrs. Prezzolini will land in New York by plane on March 31 and come immediately to Atlanta for a visit to the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. Cobb Dulaney at 1327 Peachtree. Mrs. Prezzolini is the former Virginia Dulaney, and this will be her first trip home since her marriage a year ago.

While her husband makes business trips to distant cities, Mrs. Prezzolini will remain with the Dulaney, rejoining him for the trip home around June 1.

MEMBERS OF FEMININE SOCIETY gathered yesterday for a morning coffee at the invitation of Mrs. Frank Carter and her sister, Mrs. J. B. Lenhardt. The party was held at the Driving Club, with Mrs. Frank Carter Jr., Mrs. Harry Richardson Jr., Mrs. John Stewart, Mrs. Glenn Ryman, Mrs. Langdon Quinn, Mrs. Benjamin Munnerlyn, Mrs. Frank Hooper, Mrs. Walter DuPre and Mrs. W. B. Disbro assisting in entertaining.

MRS. JAMES P. HANNER and her daughter, Claire, leave tomorrow for Sweet Briar College, where they will spend the week-end visiting Sweet Briar College as a possible alma mater for the latter. Miss Hanner is now a senior at Westminster.

LOOKING FORWARD to a month in Florida is Mrs. Joseph S. Shaw who leaves tomorrow. She will divide her stay between Fort Lauderdale, Orlando and Clearwater.

AN ATLANTAN, John H. Candler Jr., has been named vice president for Fancy Dress Dance Set at Washington and Lee, one of the leading collegiate events in the South.

A sophomore economics major, Mr. Candler is in charge of the technical production of the Dance Set. He is the grandson of Mrs. Asa G. Candler of Atlanta.

A NEW ADDRESS for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas E. Sims Jr. and their children, Mary Anne, Tommy and Clay, is 986 Coronado Dr., NW. The family moved last week from 2400 Montview Dr.

ANTICIPATING THE FIRST GLIMPSE of her new grandson, Newton Perkins Cox, Mrs. John R. Richardson left yesterday for Marion, Ala. The baby was born Jan. 13 to the Rev. and Mrs. Newton Cox Jr. Mrs. Cox is the former Eleanor Richardson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. John R. Richardson.

OFF TODAY FOR TEXAS are Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Robards who plan to visit Dallas, Midland and Houston for several weeks.

DR. AND MRS. HYMAN S. ZIMMERMAN will entertain at a reception from 4 to 7 o'clock on Sunday at their home at 1303 Oakdale Rd., NE, the occasion to honor their newlywed daughter, Mrs. Jacob Reiss III, and Mr. Reiss.

The couple, who were married Saturday evening at the Mayfair Club, will stop here for a day en route from New York to their home in Mobile. Mrs. Reiss is the former Jo Anne Zimmerman.

WHEN HONORS WERE ANNOUNCED at Marywood College, Scranton, Pa., Miss Patricia Libbey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Libbey of 380 Sutherland Ter., NE, was among 103 young students singled out for academic standing.

Miss Libbey, a Christ the King High School graduate, is working on an A.B. degree in library science.

Goodwin-Bankston Engagement Told

TIFTON, Jan. 18 — Mr. and Mrs. Otis G. Goodwin announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Grace Goodwin, to Jack Bankston, son of Mrs. Dolly Bankston of Ty Ty.

Plans for the wedding will be announced later.

Jim Cherry PTA To Meet Thursday

The Jim Cherry School PTA will meet Thursday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. at the school.

A member of the DeKalb County Board of Education will discuss the responsibilities of the County School Board.

SCOUT LEADER
Mrs. Roy Layton

Girl Scouts' National President To Attend Council Meeting Here

The national president of the Girl Scouts of America, Mrs. Roy F. Layton of Chevy Chase, Md., will head the list of VIPs attending the annual meeting of the Atlanta Council of Girl Scouts here on Jan. 31.

Mrs. Layton will speak on "The Choice We Make" at the gathering which takes place in the Hall of Bishops at the Cathedral of St. Philip.

Mrs. M. B. Satterfield, current head of the Atlanta Council, will preside. On the program will be the election of new officers and a revision of by-laws.

As national president of the Girl Scouts, Mrs. Layton is concerned with making girl scouting available to the many girls who are on the waiting lists but for whom leaders, sponsors and meeting places are needed.

To further this end, Mrs. Layton travels widely in the United States, meeting and planning with adult workers in the organization. In 1952 she represented the Girl Scouts of the United States at the 15th world conference of the World Assn. of Girl Guides and Girl Scouts held in Dombaa, Norway.

Miss Manny Is Bride of Lt. Jones

CAIRO, Jan. 18 — Mr. and Mrs. Oscar C. Manny announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Martha Elizabeth Manny, to Lt. Whitfield Jones, son of Mrs. Whitfield Jones and the late Mr. Jones of Basken, La.

The ceremony took place at the Cairo Methodist Church, with the Rev. L. E. Williams as officiant. It was followed by a reception given by the bride's parents in the church parlors.

Lt. William Wood of Albany was best man for Lt. Jones. Seating the guests were the bride's brother, Charles Pope Manny, Herman Lloyd of Valdosta, and Lt. John A. Echols of Albany.

Miss Mary Beth Nix of Nashville was maid of honor and the bride's only attendant. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white lace posed over satin. She carried a bouquet of white orchids and carnations.

Miss Gloria Peters kept the bride's book at the reception. Lt. Jones and his bride left for a honeymoon in Florida. They will reside in Albany until Lt. Jones receives his discharge from the U.S. Air Force at the end of January. Afterward they will make their home in St. Joseph, La.

Miss Robitzsch, Mr. Gilliam Are Engaged

CORDELE, Jan. 18 — Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Robitzsch announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Marjorie Robitzsch, to A/2c James L. Gilliam, son of Mrs. F. P. Pullen and the late J. D. Gilliam.

The wedding date will be announced later.

Miss Robitzsch is a member of the senior class at East Crisp High School, where she is a member of the cheerleading squad.

Mr. Gilliam attended West Crisp High School before joining the U.S. Air Force. He is presently stationed at Ardmore Air Force Base, Ardmore, Okla.

Teen-Age Mail

Constant Criticism Is 'Wrecking' Her

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am engaged to be married to a well-to-do boy. My problem is that he nags and criticizes the way I walk, talk, eat, dress and enjoy my leisure. I have called his attention to his nagging but he says I can't stand criticism and do not want to improve myself.

My parents sent me to California after graduation in the hope that I would forget this boy. I dated other nice boys while away, but I was miserable and wanted to be with my fiancé in spite of what I write. I am confused and don't know if I should marry him or not. Mother says it will ruin my life because our backgrounds are entirely different as to race, religion, upbringing and financial status.

Can I possibly be happy? I am a nervous wreck now and my parents are greatly disturbed. I love the boy very much and have tried desperately to be what he wants me to be.

Your letter was well written and I have the impression that you are an intelligent girl—one who does not deserve to be under the constant criticism you describe. To me, it seems highly improbable that you and this boy could ever work out a happily married life if his present attitude continues.

Your brief description of your backgrounds makes it seem logical to believe that, even without your fiancé's criticism and nagging, you would still have a difficult time to make a success of your marriage.

As difficult as I know it will be for you to do, my advice is to talk this problem over frankly with him. You see, Sandy, it seems you can overlook his faults and make allowances for them, but he is obviously only interested in changing you. If he is so critical of you now, what do you think he would be like once you were married?

If we love someone it seems to me we should love them for what they are, not what we intend to try to make them become. Many marriages have failed because one of the partners had this attitude and you and this boy should discuss all these things at length.

I also suggest you both read the booklet "If I Marry Outside My Religion." It is written by Algernon D. Black and can be obtained by writing to Public Affairs Pamphlets, 22 East 38th St., New York 16, N.Y.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

Do you think it is normal for a girl of 13 to like boys? I do not consider myself boy crazy, I just like to talk to them and have fun.

My parents think I am not like other girls and, at my age, I should have no interest whatsoever in boys. Tell me how, which one of us is right?

Judging by the mail I receive I would say that 75 per cent of all the 13-year-old girls have some interest in boys. So, you are quite normal on that score. However, it is well not to allow that interest to take up too much of your time, like the girl who wrote, "I am so boy crazy it's pitiful, in fact boys are all I think about."

It is important to have girl friends and girl activities, too.

So, when that cute eighth grade boy finally does notice you, don't swoon. Just chalk up a point for your side and go about your business!

CHILDREN OF 2 AND 3 ARE TOO YOUNG TO UNDERSTAND HOSPITALITY
They Refuse to Share Food and Possessions With Guests

MARCIA WINN

'Mine' Is Battle Cry, Source of Strength

Is the guest always right? It must seem unfair to small children to have adults tell them the guest must have first choice, the guest must have his pick of colored suckers, the largest plate of ice cream, and the one they wouldn't share with his shadow. Yet there is hardly a parent who doesn't feel the proprieties demand that the guest come first as often as possible, even if the guest be 2 and his host 2 along with him.

"Come, come now, Willy," we say coaxingly. "Don't be selfish. You must share."
"It's mine!" howls Willy.
"Yes, of course it's yours, and Jimmy will give it right back to you. He only wants to look at it a minute."
"But it's mine!"

LOST LESSON
It certainly is. Yet finally because you feel Willy must learn, and the sooner the better, you snatch his precious rabbit and give it to Jimmy, who at once hides it under his shirt and says he is going to take it home.

Willy, who already is howling, then hits, and Jimmy howls, and altogether the Teaching of Unselfishness has had its day. You wish Jimmy's mother weren't along so you could end this act, this pretense, and simply find Jimmy something else to play with, or else stick the wretched rabbit down your own shirt.

Children of 2 and 3 are too young to understand hospitality, generosity, sharing, or anything else that is adultmade. Some children are from birth so openhearted that they would give their back teeth, if they possessed any, to anyone who admired the teeth or asked for them.

Others have to fight so with older children in the family to retain what possessions they do have that it is almost wicker to ask them to share. Still others have, at 2 and 3, just discovered themselves as individuals.

"It's mine!" is not only a battle cry but a source of strength. To feel something belongs to you, and you alone, is, at 2 and 3, important. Renunciation is achieved only after years of contemplation.

WELL SAID
The argument was neatly stated one Sunday when two little sisters, 3 and 5, had just returned from Sunday school. The younger had wandered into

Miss Whitley Is Wed to Mr. Palmer

Miss Loretta Joyce Whitley, daughter of Mrs. Eula Paulk Whitley of Atlanta and the late John Whitley, was married to Charles Lamar Palmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eustis L. Palmer of Tifton, at the First Methodist Church of Tifton, with the Rev. Claude Fuller officiating.

Lt. Royce Jones of Ft. Benning was best man. Mr. Palmer chose as his usher-groomsman Henry D. Collier Jr. of Augusta, Robert Rackley of Camilla, Humber Bailey and Tommy Coleman of Tifton. The bride was attended by Mrs. Bill Barrett of Statham as matron of honor, Miss Clarice Cox, Miss Diana Palmer, Mrs. Flo Barton and Miss Jean Clegg of Atlanta as bridesmaids.

E. O. Paulk of Akron, Ohio, gave his granddaughter in marriage.

World 'Y' Leader Plans Visit Here

Miss Anne Guthrie of New York, who is said to be "at home in the world," is coming to Atlanta Thursday.

She will top the list of guests at the annual meeting of the YWCA on Friday evening.

"A Near Look at Far Horizons" will be the subject of Miss Guthrie's talk at the meeting scheduled for 8 p.m. A buffet supper will be served from 6 until 7:30 p.m. Miss Guthrie has had the rare experience of being on the spot when big world events happened. During her YWCA years as executive for Burma and Ceylon she watched the tide of independence swell, bringing in a free and separate India and Pakistan.

When Miss Guthrie was continental secretary for South America, she arrived in Chile on the eve of a revolution. As advisor in the Philippines, she landed as the commonwealth was coming into being.

In recent years, this noted "Y" leader has been interested in the work of the United Nations. Since 1947 she has attended the General Assembly meetings. She was in Paris when the universal Declaration of Human Rights was adopted. She now is an accredited representative for the International Alliance of Women to the Economic and Social Council and a member of the speakers' research committee for the United Nations. While here Miss Guthrie will be the guest of Mrs. Frank Henry.

Machine Tools

NEW YORK, Jan. 18 (AP)—Concentrated selling just before the final bid today sent the stock market down sharply. Most major divisions were depressed but there was considerable resistance to the fall in steels and motors.

Those two divisions together with Ford over the counter were the center of most trading interest.

The Dow-Jones Industrial Index lost $4.84 and finished at $478.89.

Losses throughout the list were gains amounting to a point in key sections.

Ford was active in the over-the-counter market. On the bid side it hit a high of 70, an early low of 67 1/2 and late in the afternoon was quoted at 67 1/2 bid and 68 1/2 asked. There is no set time for the over-the-counter market to close. Trading continues as long as there are customers.

General Motors was the day's most active issue on the big board with a loss of 1/4 at 44 1/2 on 67,400 shares. Chrysler lost 1/4 at 81 1/2. U. S. Steel was the eighth most active issue off 1/4 at 54 while Bethlehem Steel lost 1/4 at 15 1/2.

There were greater losses in rubbers, aircrafts, chemicals and others. Railroads, oils and coppers also were down. Utilities lost ground.

Brokers felt the decline in the Ford stock was a result of "free riders getting out of the market."

By that they meant persons who got the stock originally at the issue price of 61 1/2 and sold immediately for a quick profit when trading started.

Such offerings naturally would depress the market. These brokers said the stock acted well under the circumstances. They declined any effect the Ford decline had on the stock market and vice versa.

GEORGIA BUSINESS

Retail Sales Here Top All Southeast

By BOB SIBLEY

Atlanta holds a tremendous retail sales advantage over other Southeast cities, final business figures for 1954 reveal.

Total sales of $751,673,000 represented a sizable bulge over Miami's $616,094,000, Memphis' $579,226,000 and Birmingham's $423,316,000.

The Atlanta retail sales increased $238,438,000, or 42.2 per cent, from the last business census in 1948 to 1954.

During the same period, Miami retail sales rose $227,811,000, Memphis $117,400,000, and Birmingham $80,825,000.

Merrill C. Lofton, U.S. Department of Commerce field manager, said the Atlanta retail sales of $751,673,000 represented about 25 per cent of all retail sales in Georgia. The $2,953,926,000 figure for Georgia represents a 40 per cent increase over 1948.

Increases for other Georgia cities include Savannah, $109,693,000 to $146,146,000; Augusta, $83,111,000 to $138,760,000; Columbus, $92,338,000 to $125,513,000, and Macon $83,441,000 to $119,370,000.

Apparel Failures Increase

Although 1955 was the biggest retail sales year in history, 7 per cent more apparel and accessory stores failed than in 1954.

Dun & Bradstreet said 865 such businesses failed in 1955 with aggregate losses of $17,775,000. This compares with 808 apparel failures in 1954 with total liabilities of $15,153,000.

Only 62 apparel wholesalers failed last year with total liabilities of $2,176,000, but the number represents a 35 per cent increase and the amount a 36 per cent rise.

Fashions, Furnishings Point Up

The New York fashion market and Chicago's home furnishings market considered prime indicators for retail sales each year—point to a prosperous 1956.

Newsweek sums it up: "Not only were orders bigger; buyers were looking at the 'high end' of the line—the better-priced items."

The bidding: North 1 spade Pass 1 no trump Pass 3 diamonds Pass 3 no trump Pass

Opening lead: Queen of hearts.

Today's hand holds special interest for the duplicate player in contests where each deal constitutes a separate match. At spades, the normal contract, it will be seen that 12 tricks can be scored though few teams reached the slam contract. The bidding shown in the diagram illustrates the attitude which this type of scoring induces in some players who strain for no trump. Our own taste would run to a two club response. Then, too, South might have shown a preference for partner's first suit after the jump shift. But it must be said, against anything but alert defense South's attempted swindle would have produced a very high score.

West opened the queen of hearts. Declarer won in dummy, cashed the king and queen of clubs and then played the queen of spades. East won with the king and took time out for a little appraisal. The bidding and declarer's manner of play strongly suggest that South had concealed a club suit which he was attempting to reach in his own hand and that his proposed entry was probably the 10 of spades.

The routine return of his partner's suit would be futile for South was marked with the king of hearts on West's opening lead of the queen. On this defense South would take the rest of the tricks. The best hope for the defense was that South's original spade holding had the 10 and one other.

On this line of reasoning, East returned the king of diamonds to drive out dummy's ace. Declarer now had his choice of cashing dummy's spades or running South's high cards, but he could no longer do both. It was "even Stephen," for either way amounted to five tricks.

Declarer actually returned to the 10 of spades to run the tricks from the concealed hand hoping for some kind of adverse mix-up. But no mix-up developed and declarer was held to 10 tricks for a very low score.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VANDELLEN

Thermometers May Keep You Sick

There are many misconceptions about the temperature of the body. Almost everyone knows that 98.6 degrees F. is considered normal but not everyone realizes that fluctuations above and below this level occur in healthy persons. Parents particularly are thermometer conscious.

When Johnny complains of sore throat, his mother gets out the thermometer to see if he has fever. If it is 104 degrees F. she calls the physician, who may find that the boy has an ordinary cold. During the next three days, mother takes the youngster's temperature morning, afternoon and evening. Like all mothers she is concerned whenever it goes up one-tenth degree.

On the fourth day, the temperature may be two degrees below normal in the morning but 99 at 10 a.m. and 99.6 degrees at noon. For the next few days Johnny's temperature fluctuates in this manner, even though he feels fine and is full of old Nick. But Mom makes him stay in bed because of the readings above that ominous red calibration.

The boy is well but the thermometer is keeping him sick. He is the victim of an erroneous idea that only a temperature of 98.6 degrees F. is normal.

Thousands of other restless, healthy children are having to stay in bed for the same reason because their parents are unaware of the normal temperature variations, especially in children.

The clinical thermometer is a valuable instrument but the user must understand its recordings. When Johnny is active, even though in bed, his afternoon temperature might rise above the 100 mark because of the heat generated during exercise.

A Rhyme a Day

"Police learned that Olstead, a sailor who was often on cruises for several months, had shot his shipmate he accused of being too friendly with Mrs. Olstead in his absence."—Detective (fact) magazine quote.

The man who's loved and sailed the sea... in all his life will never be... content to live on hill or plain... the waves will beckon him again... and that expanse of seas and skies... keeps calling him until he dies.

They are the men who sailed their ships... with salty curses on their lips... in Arctic seas or tropic zones... beneath the flag of skull and bones... They are the men who come ashore... and like it for a week or more... and then they're like old Flanagan... they're "on and off and gone again."

A woman shouldn't try to be... a rival to the restless sea... whose promises are peace and rest... upon her undulating breast... and soon or late he will return... to watch the Borealis burn... or anchor in some peaceful bay... ten thousand miles or more away.

He shouldn't blame his woman when... he learns a half a dozen men... who stayed ashore have found that she... is more attractive than the sea.

Seeking Hubby? Try 'Mousetrap' Strategy

Annette R., 24, is an attractive blonde stenographer. "But, Dr. Crane," she began miserably, "I cannot capture a man. I've tried hard but something always goes wrong, and I don't know what it is. So could you analyze me and tell me why I've had no luck thus far in capturing a husband?"

One of Annette's mistakes was her idolatry. She was worshipping a golden wedding band above everything else, much as the Israelites worshiped the Golden Calf which Aaron made for them. Girls, if you wish to win boy friends and get proposals of marriage, you should imitate Sir Galahad.

As long as Galahad focussed on gaining the Holy Grail, it eluded him. But when he unselfishly took an interest in helping other people, the Holy Grail then appeared before him.

The same thing is usually true in romance. Girls who want a man above all else, seem rather shallow. The average male senses subconsciously that such a woman is likely to be selfish and solely concerned with her own happiness.

So you unmarried girls must widen your perspective. Never be guilty of setting a wedding ring higher than God Almighty and the many other major goals in life, such as world peace, conquest of disease, etc.

Marriage is a wonderful thing, but millions of women in each generation are reasonably happy without it. So it isn't a case of 100 per cent happiness if you capture a husband and zero if you don't.

Many married women are actually more unhappy than single girls, so it all depends on compatibility, idealism and many other factors as to whether marriage will be a wonderful adventure for you.

Annette also erred in straining too hard to capture her man. I could sense her excessive urgency, even as she talked to me, and that undue high-pressure scares the average single man.

"A modest girl never pursues a man; nor does a mousetrap pursue a mouse," ran a statement in the Exchange Express some years ago.

man, a girl must be vivacious and lavish with compliments. But she must be able to carry on interesting conversation and tactfully probe into a man's interests until she can get him talking enthusiastically about his hobbies, aims and ambitions.

When he shows interest in her, she should be gracious and thank him, but push him away via her announced intention of going on to school or into the nursing field or some other laudable life work.

Most young men get the idea that all every girl is after, is a wedding ring. So it jolts them when a girl shows she isn't concerned with getting married right away. Soon she has "mousetrapped" him.

Handicapped or No, 3rd Army Works 'Em

By MARJORY SMITH
"EMPLOY THE PHYSICALLY HANDICAPPED" isn't just the name of a special week at Third Army's Ft. McPherson headquarters.

A midget, several one-legged persons, a painter with one hand and a deaf-mute hold down jobs on the post. Superiors report they are "capable employees—people we would hate to lose."

Fort Mac worker who wags the most irreverent thumb at handicaps is former Atlanta newsman Rolfe Edmondson, whose larynx has been removed. By employing the esophageal method of speaking, Edmondson carries on telephone conversations, conducts interviews, and—just like in the old days—"gets his story."

LADY covering camellia bush against possible frost with fine new woolen blanket. ("After all," she reasoned, "it's my very choice Duchess of York. A bloom like that deserves nothing but the best!")

BIG DOINGS at the DAR Atlanta Hall on Piedmont avenue Jan. 20: Descendants of George Croft, Revolutionary War plantation-owner who played a vital role in escapades of the "Swamp Fox," Francis Marion, will gather for a special showing of a 30-minute kinescope.

TV film they are to see was telecast on "Cavalcade of America" and deals with the Swamp Fox's adventures. Croft, on whose plantation Gen. Marion was hidden, has an estimated 50 descendants in Atlanta alone, more in West Point and Columbus. Four Atlanta great-granddaughters, Mrs. Fred J. Ransom of 819 Crest Ridge Dr., N.E., Mrs. Jack Harber of 787 Brookridge Dr., N.E., Mrs. Reuben Garland of 3557 Peachtree Rd., and Mrs. Erwin Melton of 2835 Peachtree Rd., will be hostesses to visiting daughters of the American Revolution at the evening showing.

Payroll Taxes Deadline Cited

Georgia Labor Commissioner Ben T. Hulet Wednesday urged employers to make payment of payroll taxes by midnight, Jan. 31.

Hulet told reporters all employers will receive full credit of 2.7 per cent against the 3 per cent Federal Unemployment Excise Tax, provided payments are made to the Employment Security Agency by Jan. 31.

Georgia employers, Hulet pointed out, have been saved $187 million by this state law. Had it not been for the law, the money would have been paid to and retained by the federal government, he said.

Put Zone on Mail, Postmaster Urges

Currently only about 6 per cent of mail for delivery in Atlanta bears zone numbers, Acting Postmaster Burl F. Sanders estimated Tuesday.

He urged individuals who have forgotten their zone designations to check guides in post office lobbies or call MU. 8-3517, Ext. 113, for information.

Asked if he thought proper progress was being made in regard to usage of the zone numbers, Sanders said it "could be improved."
